there must exist a point at which the molecular and electro chemical processes that comprise brain function are transformed into rich orderly conscious experience which seamlessly blends the present moment what led up to it and what will follow it this is the stuff of our everyday lives and it raises questions about its organization and how that organization facilitates engagement with the world at large in short what is the structure of conscious experience and what is gained by it being structured that way this book argues that the structure is what is familiarly known as narrative form and that the gain is the ability to communicate about one's experience with oneself and others as well as to make informed predictions about what will happen in the fundamentally unknowable and potentially dangerous future in the latter case because the essence of narrative form is time and causality structuring events from memory the past and from perception the present in narrative form causally implies future events expectations the potential threat the bad or the absence of good of these expected future events can be assessed and if required action can be taken to prevent their occurrence or to diminish their impact the implications about thinking and action and about who we are as individuals are also discussed here critical rationalism has become an influential philosophy in many areas including a great number of scientific disciplines yet only few studies have been devoted to the role of the philosophy of sir karl popper in the vast field of education this volume undertakes to fill this gap leading scholars in the educational science and in the philosophy of education have critically written for this volume in an attempt to elaborate popper's methodological and socio political views and confront them with a globally relevant spectrum of scientific objectives and cultural values among the topics discussed are moral values education for freedom and its consequences for the student and the critical attitude in political education attention is also paid to the historiography of this significant philosophical movement regarding pedagogical research the empirical paradigm the falsificatory approach to educational research the complex relationship between educational theory and practice as well as the problem of value neutrality in educational science are objects of critical analysis
