there can be no doubt that there is a link between early christian statements on human dignity and the corresponding modern concept as it appears ever more frequently in current bioethical debates this study attempts to throw light on the surprisingly complex process of the emergence of such a christian concept of human dignity in antiquity and portrays it as a process governed by contradictions and antagonisms between biblical and platonic anthropology between a platonic and a stoic perception of humanity between gnostic and antignostic cosmology between biblically based criticism of human culture on the one hand and heilsgeschichtlichem cultural optimism on the other hand between greek and roman thinking this history of the idea of the dignity of man is being recounted taking into consideration the complex matrix of christian theory and practice including issues such as worship contraception and abortion piety and theological reflection ethics liturgy and theological as well as cutural anthropology bei dieser studie handelt es sich um den versuch einer zusammenfassenden darstellung der christlich antiken
