first published in 1983 gender class and education is a collection of papers that formed presentations at the westhill sociology of education conference in january 1982 and is the fifth such collection to emerge from the annual conference the conference theme race class and gender was not only chosen because of its topicality but also to provide a framework for debate between educational researchers and teachers the papers focus on the reproduction of gender relations through education and provide important insights into how this process works how it is resisted in schools and colleges and the possibilities for radical intervention this volume includes three teaching bibliographies on gender and education which were not presented at the conference but were compiled specially for the book with a particular focus on the british printing industry this book tackles the ongoing issue of pay inequality and examines the challenges facing many women today by analysing organisation processes within the workplace the author considers the unequal allocation of power resources that generate and sustain women s invisibility and argues that women s power is often outflanked by that of their male colleagues written by a skilled academic with direct industry experience this new book is an insightful read for those researching human resource management hrm women s studies and diversity as well as trade union officials and policy makers presentations made at the fifth westhill sociology of education conference in january 1982 introd this book interrogates the role of gender and class in shaping women s everyday leisure practices drawing on empirical research in urban turkey the book explores how leisure is perceived and practised by women within their communities the book examines the relationship of women s leisure to their labour women s access to and uses of public leisure spaces and the dynamics of their everyday sociability within their neighbourhoods it is the first book to apply skegg s concept of respectability socially recognised judgments and standards which label the right practices that hold morality and power in a given context as a theoretical tool with which to understand leisure in a country in which modernisation and westernisation have been a central dynamic shaping political social and cultural life this analysis reveals that two measures of gendered respectability reproductive work and the honour code and how they mediate with the classed measures of respectability are essential to understanding women's leisure practices in the Turkish context the book argues that these interactions are likely shared in many global south countries including Islamic societies therefore this analysis shines important new light on women's experiences more broadly and on the social political and cultural dynamics of traditional social structures in a modernising world this book is fascinating reading for anybody with an interest in leisure studies women's studies sociology cultural studies or middle east studies the open access version of this book available at taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a creative commons attribution non commercial no derivatives cc by nc nd 4.0 license gender class equality in political economies offers an in depth analysis of gender class equality across six countries to reveal why gender class equality in paid and unpaid work remains elusive and what more policy might do to achieve better social and economic outcomes this book is the first to meld cross time with cross country comparisons link macro structures to micro behavior and connect class with gender dynamics to yield fresh insights into where we are on the road to gender equality why it varies across industrialized countries and the barriers to further progress
