banking associations as business associations representing the interests of its members banks at the national level in today s changing regulatory and economic environment have an increasingly important role not only in the banking sector but in the wider economy their increasing importance is deriving from their mission structure and capabilities to obtain and promote different interests in the economy and wider society it is important to understand their mission vision and activities and ideally to include banking associations in the market decision making process countries where that had previously been the case were observed to achieve a higher level of mutual understanding of different stakeholders and thereby produced greater value added popular conceptions hold that capitalism is driven almost entirely by the pursuit of profit and self interest challenging that assumption this major new study of american business associations shows how market and non market relations are actually profoundly entwined at the heart of capitalism in solidarity in strategy lyn spillman draws on rich documentary archives and a comprehensive data set of more than four thousand trade associations from diverse and obscure corners of commercial life to reveal a busy and often surprising arena of american economic activity from the intelligent transportation society to the american gem trade association spillman explains how business associations are more collegial than cutthroat and how they make capitalist action meaningful not only by developing shared ideas about collective interests but also by articulating a disinterested solidarity that transcends those interests deeply grounded in both economic and cultural sociology solidarity in strategy provides rich lively and often surprising insights into the world of business and leads us to question some of our most fundamental assumptions about economic life and how cultural context influences economic
