Melodrama and Meaning is a major addition to the new historical approach to film studies. Barbara Klinger shows how institutions most associated with Hollywood cinema—academia, the film industry, review journalism, star publicity, and the mass media—create meaning and ideological identity for films. Chapters focus on Sirk's place in the development of film studies from the 1950s through the 1980s, as well as the history of the critical reception both academic and popular of Sirk's films. A history that outlines journalism's role in public tastemaking, other chapters are devoted to Universal's selling of Written on the Wind, the machinery of star publicity, and the changing image of Rock Hudson and the contemporary institutionalized camp response to Sirk that has resulted from developments in mass culture.

Professor McMurtry provides this descriptive guide to over 100 films for all teachers, high school and college who want to bring the excitement of drama into the classroom without misleading students about Shakespeare's plays. Librarians building solid educational video collections will benefit too, as will reference librarians needing quick access to information. McMurtry answers every important question for each film: who is in the cast, to what extent is Shakespeare's text cut or rearranged, and most important, how do today's students respond to a particular film? Detailed commentary covers costumes, settings, and the actors' interpretations of their roles, while the overall strengths and weaknesses of each film are evaluated from a literary perspective.
