this book examines a sophisticated effort by radical economic reformers to change the ideology of nationalism in Mexico from 1988-94 and so reinvent the country in a way that was more friendly to their market policies and responses to this by opposition parties

Tanalís Padilla traces the history of the normales rurales rural schools in Mexico that trained campesino teachers and outlines how despite being intended to foster a modern patriotic citizenry they became sites of radical politics from his provincial origins in the small northern Mexico town of Múzquiz, Coahuila to his meteoric rise in Manhattan's East Village art scene to having achieved international standing at the time of his early death at forty-seven, Julio Galán was radically transgressive. The artist extended contemporary Mexican painting beyond the cultural criticism of neo-Mexicanism and neomexicanismo, redefining Mexican identity as gender expansive. In his art, Galán combined gender fluid imagery, his performative persona, queer self-representation, and cross-cultural visual and textual references to create large-scale layered dialogical visual puzzles. An artist ahead of his time, Galán's content and imagery is relevant to contemporary LGBTQ social movements. Replete with full-color reproductions of Galán's artwork and photographic material, Teresa Eckmann's book serves as the first English language monograph on the artist's life and work. Anyone interested in art in Mexico and Latin America will find this book an indispensable addition to their library, and it will be a core book on the study of this artist for decades to come.

Recovering the U.S. Hispanic Literary Project is a national project to locate, identify, preserve, and make accessible the literary contributions of U.S. Hispanics from colonial times through 1960 in what today comprises the fifty states of the United States.
