essay from the year 2019 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 1 0 nottingham trent university institut für anglistik und amerikanistik course culture and anarchy language english abstract in this essay i aim to compare woolf s and carter s take on the female identity as shown in their work i will focus on the novels mrs dalloway and nights at the circus respectively and their female characters the fight for female equality experienced a high during the turn of the 19th to 20th century it was defined by the suffragette movement that gained the voting right for women in 1928 however it all started in the 1890s when the term new woman was introduced by the american novelists sarah grand and ouida in a pair of articles published in the north american review the writers laid focus on the independent and educated woman that was not merely an object of desire for men and a means for reproduction by the public the term was soon related to social reforms in literature however the new woman was heavily criticised she was often portrayed as selfish and over educated hence a danger to the male ego virginia woolf born in 1882 in victorian london and one of the few partially recognised female writers of her time experienced the social changes and the adoption of a new view of the woman first hand as a young woman she first came in contact with the women s rights movement in britain which later influenced her work to a great extent more recently in light of the first and second wave feminism her work has been interpreted as showing early forms of feminist thinking angela carter born more than half a century later in 1940 is known for her openly feminist writing that presents familiar stories and themes with a twist on gender and class issues6 her novels and short stories are often set in the past and explore the issues of identity for women from the light of the first and second wave feminism during the 1970s and 1980s
