a lot of work has been done talking about what masculinity is and what it does within video games but less has been given to considering how and why this happens and the processes involved this book considers the array of daily relationships involved in producing masculinity and how those actions and relationships translate to video games moreover it examines the ways the actual play of the games maps onto the stories to create contradictory moments that show that while toxic masculinity certainly exists it is far from inevitable topics covered include the nature of masculine apprenticeship and nurturing labor fatherhood the scapegoating of women and reckoning with mortality among many others in recent years the notion of determinate meaning the idea that a word or a line in a literary text means one thing rather than another thing x rather than y has been widely rejected in the name of derrida and difference reader response criticism and ideological approaches proclaiming meaning to be no more than a site of political contestation yet determinate meaning says william c dowling cannot be rejected in this way like the ratio named by p or the primeness of prime numbers in mathematics it has been there all along waiting for our theories to catch up the proof that this is so he argues is today most compellingly available in the new intensionalism of jerrold j katz which provides a powerful demonstration that the method of close reading developed by new criticism remains the only valid basis for higher order interpretation for readers with no technical background in linguistics or logic the senses of the text provides a clear and easily understood introduction to the chomskyan revolution in linguistic theory and to major issues in the philosophy of language including the work of frege wittgenstein quine carnap kripke and davidson a warm summer evening with a sultry haze brooding over the level landscape and a sabbath stillness upon all things in the village of lidford midlandshire in the remoter corners of the old gothic church the shadows are beginning to gather as the sermon draws near its close but in the centre aisle and about the pulpit there is broad daylight still shining in from the wide western window across the lower half of which there are tall figures of the evangelists in old stained glass there are no choristers at lidford and the evening service is conducted in rather a drowsy way but there is a solemn air of repose about the gray old church that should be conducive to tranquil thoughts and pious meditations simple and earnest have been the words of the sermon simple and earnest seem the countenances of the congregation looking reverently upwards at the face of their pastor and one might fancy contemplating that grand old church so much too spacious for the needs of the little flock gathered there to night that lidford was a forgotten half deserted corner of this earth in which a man tired of the press and turmoil of the world might find an almost monastic solitude and calm so thought a gentleman in the squire s pew a good looking man of about thirty who was finishing his first sunday at lidford by devout attendance at evening service he had been thinking a good deal about this quiet country life during the service wondering whether it was not the best life a man could live after all and thinking it all the sweeter because of his own experience which had lain chiefly in cities he was a certain mr gilbert fenton an australian merchant and was on a visit to his sister who had married the principallandowner in lidford martin lister a man whose father had been called the squire the lady sat opposite her brother in the wide old family pew to night a handsome looking matron with a little rosy cheeked damsel sitting by her side a damsel with flowing auburn hair tiny hat and feather and bright scarlet stockings looking very much as if she had walked out of a picture by mr millais the congregation stood up to sing a hymn when the sermon was ended and gilbert fenton turned his face towards the opposite line of pews in one of which very near him there was a girl at whom mrs lister had caught her brother looking very often during the service just concluded it was a face that a man could scarcely look upon once without finding his glances wandering back to it afterwards not quite a perfect face but a very bright and winning one large gray eyes with a wonderful light in them under dark lashes and darker brows a complexion that had a dusky pallor a delicate semi transparent olive tint that one seldom sees out of a spanish picture a sweet rosy mouth and a piquant little nose of no particular order made up the catalogue of this young lady s charms but in a face worth looking at there is always a something that cannot be put into words and the brightest and best attributes of this face were quite beyond translation it was a face one might almost call splendid there was such a light and glory about it at some moments gilbert fenton thought so to night as he saw it in the full radiance of the western sunlight the lips parted as the girl sang the clear gray eyes looking upward
