this volume examines the ways that writers from the caribbean africa and the u s theorize and employ postcolonial memory in ways that expose or challenge colonial narratives of the past and shows how memory assumes particular forms and values in post colonial contexts in twenty and twenty first century works the problem of contested memory and colonial history continues to be an urgent and timely issue as colonial history has served to crush erase and manipulate collective and individual memories indeed the most powerful mechanism of colonial discourse is that which alters and silences local histories and even individuals memories in service to colonial authority johnson and brezault work to contextualize the politics of writing memory in the shadow of colonial history creating a collection that pioneers a postcolonial turn in cultural memory studies suitable for scholars interested in cultural memory postcolonial francophone and ethnic studies includes a foreword by marianne hirsch over the second half of the twentieth century a substantial flow of writing emerged from the french held caribbean much of this work is both theoretically knowing and poetically potent and has attracted international attention to the literary resonances of the uniquely complex geo historical situation of the caribbean and indeed of the americas in general much of its passion pertinence and appeal inheres in its approach to time and to space an approach still reverberating with the shock of displacement and its various after tremors an exploded sense of diversity radical relativization the profound expropriations of enslavement colonial erosion through readings of high profile as well as lesser known writing this book tracks some of the more striking tensions and tropisms at work in the french caribbean imagination of space and time and their intersection it studies generic interplay textual palimpseste narrative structure and other dynamics of writing that realize and manipulate the intersections of time and space history and memory writing and rewriting voice and text referential space and inter textual space as well as cultural theory and literary practice identity and difference place and displacement in this way it probes both the strains and the stresses and also the insights and gravitations that make for the particular french caribbean timbre of this volume of writing this specific vibration while illuminating caribbean new world and post colonial thinking in general also encourages wider reflection on global resonances of displacement and dislocation and on more general issues such as the role of writing and of narrative in particular in the confrontation of absence and presence loss and desire distance and diversity this book locates the problematic of time space in relation to historiographical geo cultural and phenomenological thinking and it also takes account of the detonation of critical interest in what is broadly termed post colonial writing its fundamental concern however is to show how a particular corpus of writing has in the space of half a century and from a bracing position of hyper relationality responded imaginatively and poetically to the challenge of envisioning place and of relating space to time a collection of discussions of literary texts from areas as diverse as europe and north africa the caribbean and south asia regions of the world that seem to have only their language in common but despite enormous differences among all the countries where french is spoken francophone literatures tend to deal with a similar spread of issues this volume positions the study of the francophone world and its cultures as a comparative project in which post colonial francophone cultures and the specific alterity of these cultures emerge as inextricable from and essential to an understanding of modern france the volume is organized by region with an international roster of contributions and includes summaries of selected creative and critical works and a guide to selected terms and figures to see the wizard politics and the literature of childhood takes its central premise as the title indicates from l frank baum's the wonderful wizard of oz upon their return to the emerald city after killing the wicked witch of the west the task the wizard assigned them dorothy the tin woodman scarecrow and lion learn that the wizard is a humbug merely a man from nebraska manipulating them and the citizens of both the emerald city and of oz from behind a screen yet they all continue to believe in the powers they know he does not have still insisting he grant their wishes the image of the man behind the screen and the reader's continued pursuit of the wizard is a powerful one that has at its core an issue central to the study of children's literature the relationship between the adult writer and the child reader as jack zipes perry nodelman daniel hade jacqueline rose and many others point out before the literature for children and young adults actually reaches these intended readers it has been mediated by many and diverse cultural social political psychological and economic forces these forces occasionally work purposefully in an attempt to consciously socialize or empower training the reader into a particular identity or way of viewing the world by one who considers him or herself an advocate for children obviously these wizards acting in literature can be the writers themselves but they can also be the publishers corporations school boards teachers librarians literary critics and parents and these advocates can be conservative progressive or any gradation in between it is the purpose of this volume to interrogate the politics and the political powers at work in literature for children and young adults childhood is an important site of political debate and children often the victims or beneficiaries of adult uses of power one would be hard pressed to find a category of literature more contested than that written for children and adolescents peter hunt writes in his introduction to understanding children's literature that children's books are overtly important educationally and commercially with consequences across the culture from language to politics most adults and almost certainly the vast majority in positions of power and influence read children's books as children and it is inconceivable that the ideologies permeating those books had no influence on their development if there were a question about the central position literature for children and young adults has in political contests one needs to look no further than the myriad struggles surrounding censorship mark i west observes for instance throughout the history of children's literature the people who have tried to censor children's books for all their ideological differences share a rather romantic view about the power of books they believe or at least they profess to believe that books are such a major influence in the formation of children's values and attitudes that adults need to monitor every word that children read because childhood and young adulthood are the sites of political debate for issues ranging from civil rights and racism to the construction and definition of the family indoctrinating children into or subverting national and religious ideologies the literature of childhood bears consciously political analysis asking how socialization works how children and young adults learn of social cultural and political expectations as well as how literature can propose means of fighting those structures to see the wizard politics and the literature of childhood intends to offer analysis of the political content and context of literature written for and about children and young adults the essays included in to see the wizard analyze nineteenth and twentieth century literature from america britain australia the caribbean and sri lanka that is for and about children and adolescents the essays address issues of racial and national identity and representation poverty and class mobility gender sexuality and power and the uses of literature in the healing of trauma and the construction of an authentic self
