for a decade and a half since she first appeared in the birmingham centre s collective volume the empire strikes back hazel carby has been on the frontline of the debate over multicultural education in britain and the us this book brings together her most important and influential essays ranging over such topics as the necessity for racially diverse school curricula the construction of literary canons zora neale hurston s portraits of the folk c l r james and trinidadian nationalism and black women blues artists and the necessity for racially diverse school curricula carby s analyses of diverse aspects of contemporary culture are invariably sharp and provocative her political insights shrewd and often against the grain a powerful intervention culture in babylon will become a standard reference point in future debates over race ethnicity and gender

the author recovers an understudied but important period in zora neale hurston s life her 1947 48 stay in honduras hurston an anthropologist by training was officially searching for a lost maya ruin but the author argues that hurston was also engaged in a much more personal project in escaping the jim crow south to central america she was able to sidestep wearying conversations about race in the united states while still embracing her privilege and power as a citizen of the united states in postwar central america zora neale hurston is considered one of the most controversial yet prominent figures associated with the harlem renaissance this introductory study examines hurston s contributions to that literary movement as well as her role as mediator between the black and white worlds in which she lived readers will appreciate the clear presentation of the biographical facts of her life as well as an overview of the issues and varying perceptions surrounding her literary achievements a full chapter is devoted to analysing each of hurston s major works of fiction jonah s gourd vine 1934 their eyes were watching god 1937 moses man of the mountain 1939 seraph on the suwanee 1948 as well as her short fiction and her fictionalized autobiography dust tracks on a road 1942 for each of the works plot character development themes setting and symbols are identified and discussed in clear accessible language an alternate critical perspective enhances the understanding of each of hurston s full length works contemporary reviews are cited in a bibliography which also helps students find further biographical and critical information on zora neale hurston
