The second European edition of Services Marketing: Integrating Customer Focus Across the Firm by Wilson Zeithaml, Bitner, and Gremler uniquely focuses on the development of customer relationships through quality service, reflecting the increasing importance of the service economy. Services Marketing is the only text that puts the customer's experience of services at the centre of its approach. The core theories, concepts, and frameworks are retained, and specifically the Gaps Model, a popular feature of the book. The text moves from the foundations of services marketing before introducing the Gaps Model and demonstrating its application to services marketing. In the second edition, the book takes on more European and international contexts to reflect the needs of courses, lecturers, and students. The second edition builds on the wealth of European and international examples, cases, and research in the first edition, offering more integration of European content. It has also been fully updated with the latest research to ensure that it continues to be seen as the text covering the very latest services marketing thinking. In addition, the cases section has been thoroughly examined and revised to offer a range of new case studies with a European and global focus. The online resources have also been fully revised and updated, providing an excellent package of support for lecturers and students.

Master's thesis from the year 2018 in the subject Business Economics: Offline Marketing and Online Marketing. Grade 1.2, Zurich University of Applied Sciences, Language: English. Abstract: This master's thesis explores whether there are content stimuli that are best suited to a specific stage of the customer's buying cycle. In other words, is there a connection between the engagement of website visitors and their current stage within the buying cycle? To study this relationship, an external webpage of IBM and its subpages are used to analyze webpage visitors' click and scroll behavior and to assess their interest in the presented content assets. The exploratory investigation was undertaken based on three online surveys with a total sample of 234 participants. The age of classical advertising is over; the introduction of digital technology and the spread of the Internet have led to radical changes in the way companies meet the expectations and interests of their stakeholders. In digital communication, content marketing plays a major role in achieving business benefits. In fact, valuable B2B content marketing initiatives can drive website traffic, customer engagement, and inbound leads, which yield sales and retain customers. In the context of this digital environment, companies increasingly aim to provide relevant, engaging content assets to acquire new leads and create business benefits. This raises the following question: What digital content assets encourage website visitor engagement, and how does this relate to customer progress in the B2B buying cycle? According to the literature, content that is consistent, timely, and contains exclusivity messages that matter to the target audience lead to engagement. However, engagement is obviously dependent on individual customer needs, motives, and goals. It should therefore be interesting for companies to know how to turn their website visits into engaged visits but research on engagement combined with content marketing is scarce especially in the b2b context in examining the new rules of service competition the author discusses what important issues constitute the three levels of internal marketing the four basic strategy options and the five rules of service
