Each of these 22 tales relates the exploits and personalities of a fictional platoon of American soldiers in Vietnam.

The Things They Carried presents a collection of critical essays that discuss the characters, themes, and plots of the composite novel.

This did not happen is a common refrain throughout the stories in The Things They Carried. Tim O'Brien's account of the Vietnam War purposely blurs the line between fact and fiction to get closer to the truth of what soldiers actually experienced. This compelling volume explores the life of Tim O'Brien and his attempts to wrestle with the trauma and shame of war. In The Things They Carried, a collection of related essays explore topics such as the moral complexity of war, writing as a path to spiritual redemption, and the novel's portrayal of gender. Contemporary perspectives on war, such as the need to help soldiers suffering from PTSD and not repeating the mistakes of Vietnam, are also presented.

This depicts the men of Alpha Company as they battle the enemy, or maybe more the idea of the enemy, and occasionally each other in their relationships. We see their representations of war in american literature and film from the civil war to iraq language english abstract in the book the things they carried by tim o brien the narrator says that a good war story is never true he admits that nearly everything in the book is made up after saying that it is true before however the reader learns that not until the 7th chapter in which o brien the narrator tells the reader that everything up to now has been invented similarly he leaves open if some things are true or not even the narrator who is named like the author himself is made up and has no or little similarity to the author e g the author o brien does not have a daughter whereas the narrator o brien does reading the things they carried a question keeps coming up again and again why does he do that why does tim o brien the narrator constantly tell the reader that everything is made up it does not make any sense the reader just gets confused in addition to this question i found myself wondering if there was a clear difference between truth and fiction in the book namely if you could say this is true and this is untrue and this is certain and this is uncertain and if yes was it o brien s intention to draw this clear line or did it just happen by accident of course one cannot know everything for certain and no one can look into o brien s brain but you can make assumptions based on the knowledge you have in my paper i will focus mainly on the aspect why the principle of truth and fiction is used in the things the carried and which effects come out of that i think this is very interesting because in my opinion this is the main aspect of the whole book someone who reads it will not be able to stop themselves from asking questions in their head the main process while reading is that you just keep asking yourself these questions again and again and you cannot find any answer to them my goal however is not to find any answers but to try to explain this aspect truth and fiction as a whole and to examine what it might contribute to describe the vietnam war even though the cultural approach concerns itself with the local and the particular rather than with the abstract and universal it is inherently comparative moreover it also relocates each war in the historical and cultural experiences of asian countries themselves rather than seeing the war as merely a conflict between the united states and asian nations
