introducing comparative education aims to familiarize newcomers with comparative education as a field of study and to provide a continuing reference as people become more actively involved with comparative studies and the problems associated with developing them in rigorous and productive ways the purposes and methods of comparative education are also discussed comprised of eight chapters this book begins by presenting a neat simple and generally accepted definition of comparative education the reader is then introduced to the history and development of comparative education the purposes of comparative education some of the pitfalls in trying to compare education or educational systems across cultural and national boundaries and some of the alternative methods open to those who would like to develop studies in comparative education the approaches associated with isaac kandel nicholas hans and g z f bereday brian holmes edmund king harold noah and max eckstein are considered the book concludes with a listing of resources for teaching and learning this monograph is intended for students and educators seeing the restrictions of former studies in comparative literature and aiming to amend these deficiencies the author of this book mainly discusses the major theoretical significance and academic value of the variation theory in the whole process of the development of comparative literature in the world in china the seminal comparative study of literature among different cultures can be dated back to ancient china while the founding of comparative literature as a distinct academic discipline has to be largely owing to the influence of the west the modern chinese study of comparative literature formed its uniqueness under western influence the direct influence of the translation of western theories into china is remarkable however in the course of translation and reception of western theories chinese comparatists and intellectuals have been encountering various problems and solving them with an alternative method accordingly different from the traditional methods proposed by the french school and the american school therefore in this book modern chinese study of comparative literature is put in a historical context with regard to the theoretical issue of the discipline in china through the entire 20th century at present many scholars in china and in other countries agree that with the influence study proposed by the french school and the study of analogy advocated by the american school the entire theoretical system of comparative literature is well built however when the comparative study of literature between east and west is concerned the theory of comparative literature is far from perfect it is not only because many problems still exist but there are significant defects in their theoretical bases respectively many researches have proven that even with the influence study and the study of analogy we still can not solve many problems in the practice of studies in comparative literature this does not mean that we have no respect for the contributions of the french school and the american school we just want to attach importance to literary variations which is a phenomenon that has long been neglected the purpose of putting forward the variation theory in comparative literature is to provide new perspectives new methods and new theory to the study of comparative literature which may be a major breakthrough in the international arena of comparative literature the neglect of literary variation is mainly because all the previous theories about comparative literature start off in search of similarities but not differences accordingly in 1990s heterogeneity as a premise of comparability was put forward and later the variation theory was further advanced it is not only the important phenomenon in literary communication but also the most valuable research object in comparative literature still it will be an important path to cultural innovation the variation theory may make up the major flaws of theories by both french school and the american school since it focus on heterogeneity and variability in cross cultural literary events especially the ones of inter civilization which will be a new course for comparative literature throughout the history of literature and the history of literary communication collisions between different civilizations have always been producing new literary events which make the heterogeneity of different civilizations and variability traceable the higher stage of literary communication may mean dialogue and blend between different cultures the overarching concerns of this book include different levels of variation in literary communication and the studies of different objects the introduction begins with a literature review of major achievements made by the french school and the american school with pointing out what they have neglected the body of the book is divided into three parts in the first part chapter 1 deals with the major contributions of influence study and its weaknesses the origination of comparative literature in most of european countries is reviewed first and then the major contributions of the french school are listed to point out its merits and weaknesses the author discusses the relation between influence study and the variation theory and the importance of the french school in theoretical development of comparative literature is stressed too chapter 2 offers a critical introduction and reflection on the study of analogy both its major contributions and weaknesses are made clear to further illustrate the relationship between interpretation and the variation theory and the discursive variation is discussed part ii is a transitional part with only one chapter that gives a clear account of phenomenon of variation from international perspective part iii consists of four chapters chapter 4 offers a detailed description of the variation theory in cross languages context chapter 5 deals with cross cultural variation in homogeneous circle of civilization chapter 6 discusses the variation among heterogeneous civilization for a long period of time the theoretical study of comparative literature in china has largely been confined to the chinese academic arena thus has long been neglected on one hand western comparatists have gradually realized the importance of a non western perspective in the study of the discipline

on the other hand few books are available to introduce the recent development of comparative literature study in china compared with the enthusiastic reception of the theories of the french school and the american school the theories of chinese comparatists receives relatively little attention in western countries in this sense the proposed book attempts to challenge the myth of monolithic theories of comparative literature trying to construct an alternative theory of the discipline this book explores the evolution and current state of the scholarly field of comparative and international education over 200 years of development experts in the field explore comparative and international education in each of the major world regions this authoritative book examines the what why and how of international comparative research it offers a comprehensive topic based overview of the theory and practice of comparative research and addresses the possible concerns of those both funding the research and using the findings drawing on illustrations from the extensive international literature as well as real life comparative studies the chapters guide readers through the many stages in the research process from research design and data collection to the analysis and interpretation of findings in a book that crosses national societal cultural and disciplinary boundaries the author pinpoints practical problems and directs readers to tried and tested solutions including multiple method strategies draws on examples of policy transfer to examine how comparative research can inform policy making provides guidance on the management of international research teams and projects this resource is the ultimate reference tool for students researchers and practitioners undertaking comparative research projects in international settings across the social sciences and humanities focuses on the influence of multiculturalism as a concept transforming literary and cultural studies this book offers a comprehensive survey of comparative criticism in the 1990s it demonstrates that comparative critical strategies can provide insights into the world s changing and increasingly colliding cultures

this book serves several purposes all very much needed in today s embattled situation of the humanities and the study of literature first in chapter one the author proposes that the discipline of comparative literature is a most advantageous approach for the study of literature and culture as it is a priori a discipline of cross disciplinarity and of international dimensions after a manifesto for a new comparative literature he proceeds to offer several related theoretical frameworks as a composite method for the study of literature and culture he designates and explicates as the systemic and empirical approach following the introduction of the proposed new comparative literature the author applies his method to a wide variety of literary and cultural areas of inquiry such as literature and cultural participation where he discusses several aspects of reading and readership chapter two comparative literature as and interdisciplinarity chapter three where he deals with theory and application for film and literature and medicine and literature cultures peripherality and comparative literature chapter four where he proposes a theoretical designation he terms inbetween peripherality for the study of east central european literatures and cultures as well as ethnic minority writing women s literature and men writing about women chapter five where he analyses texts written by women and texts about women written by men in the theoretical context of ethical constructivism the study of translation and comparative literature chapter six where after a theoretical introduction he presents a new version of anton popovic s dictionary for literary translation as a taxonomy for the study of translation and the study of literature and the electronic age chapter seven where he discusses the impact of new technologies on the study of literature and culture the analyses in their various applications of the proposed new comparative literature involve modern and contemporary authors and their works such as dorothy richardson margit kaffka mircea cartarescu robert musil alfred d[?] blin hermann hesse p[?] ter esterh[?] zy dezs[?] kosztol[?] nyi michael ondatje endre kukorelly else seel and others
