the confession the church makes to the world sits oddly in the contemporary cultural complex intellectual fashions in the marketplace of ideas have moved beyond an accommodation of biblical theological categories philosophy is unsure of its status in an amorphous postmodernism and theology threatens to degenerate into intellectual experimentation they have become mutually suspicious and hesitant of conversation but a heavy fault lies with the church s own confessional status for what is it the church has to say to the world has it preserved confessional continuity with the reformation theology that rediscovered its biblical foundations and liberated it from intellectual and confessional shackles has the church surrendered the possibility of relevance by having lost its own historic identity and is it necessary to conclude as a result that contemporary culture is no longer penetrable by any word from the old wells of divine disclosure in this brief but challenging book douglas vickers brings the christian confession to the forefront of consideration and reestablishes a theology grounded in historic verities sustained by the scriptural declarations in straightforward and accessible terms being and belief addresses the meaning of biblical truth for christian understanding and christian life

why does the christian walk often feel like an ongoing struggle and why does god s creation include imperfection let alone forces that are intent on thwarting god s creative work in seeking a response to these questions this book argues that the biblical accounts describe creation in terms of a progressive transformation process whereby the initially incomplete created order will reach perfection only in the fulfillment of new creation the following discussion then outlines a comprehensive framework for the biblical theology of humanity s struggles centered on three key themes corporeal temptation deficient social structures and the much debated notion of spiritual warfare the book presents an overarching canonical narrative that threads together a series of diverse biblical topics from job s temptation to the atonement the final part surveys biblical teaching on how human conduct can be aligned with god s creative purpose and discusses three assignments from jesus to believers to celebrate the eucharist to pray the lord s prayer and to fulfill the
