crosslinguistic influence is an established area of second language research and as such it has been subject to extensive scrutiny although the field has come a long way in understanding its general character many issues still remain a conundrum for example why does transfer appear selective and why does transfer never seem to go away for certain linguistic elements unlike most existing studies which have focused on transfer at the surface form level the present volume examines the relationship between thought and language in particular thought as shaped by first language development and use and its interaction with second language use the chapters in this collection conceptually explore and empirically investigate the relevance of slobin s thinking for speaking hypothesis to adult second language acquisition offering compelling and enlightening evidence of the fundamental nature of crosslinguistic influence in adult second

in recent years there has been rise in popularity and visibility of the debate about the last things preterists and futurists have published books articles and even movies promoting their respective views this debate has elevated the interest of the christian public in eschatological issues along with the increased interest in eschatology there has been a rise in popularity of the preterist view which holds that most or all of the prophecies about christ's coming have already been fulfilled—that the "second coming" took place in 70 ad most of the discussion from those who espouse the preterist view however revolves around certain passages in the new testament and their treatment of old testament passages is sporadic and selective the importance of the book of daniel in these discussions cannot be overstated however most commentaries on daniel from a futurist perspective have not dealt with the preterists' interpretations of the key prophetic passages there simply is no detailed commentary on the book of daniel that addresses the preterist interpretations of this important book this book is a commentary on the entire book of daniel from a futurist perspective that specifically addresses the preterist interpretations of the key prophetic passages this is not a book that selects passages out of the context of the book and attempts to explain their prophetic significance rather this is a commentary on the entire book of daniel that places these critical prophetic passages in their literary and historical context and then deals with the various interpretations of these passages as they fit into the context of the book as a whole
