stuart hall in whose honour this volume is compiled has made significant contributions to contemporary social and political discourse constantly praised for his scholarly prescience he was at the helm of the forging and definition of the discipline of cultural studies and nurtured an entire cadre of young intellectuals who continue to make remarkable contributions in the fields of cultural studies and social criticism the essays that constitute this collection all in different ways contend with hall s methodology his philosophy as well as many other dimensions of his rich and textured intellectual career more importantly however they serve to reconnect his work to the social context of his island of birth jamaica and the wider caribbean this collection of three essays looks at the notion of diasporic identity it is not redundant to ask if we who are situated in the present are more conscious and self reflexive about our dis located situatedness it would be rather simplistic to argue that people are traveling or migrating for socio political economic reasons more frequently than usual in the early 21st century but there does seem to be a heightened sense of reflexivity about the self other home foreign dichotomy which compels and allows the migrant traveler to document and reflect about the socio psychical processes that accompany this displacement the movement from place a to place b as a result of socio cultural economic imperatives creates an awareness of the differences between both the places making one conclude that there must be a desire within us which allows us to recognize difference and negotiate with it these three essays examine this notion of displacement and the emergence of multiple realms of cultures which coexist alongside the dominant ones we are at the moment currently poised to do away with simple assumptions which equate citizenship as being contained within monolithic identities with the constant flow of people all across the world we have become self reflexive enough to theorize about this more importantly we project these anxieties and reflections onto the public realm allowing ourselves agency to re conceptualize fundamental notions of culture identity and citizenship table of contents 1 introduction by tapati bharadwaj 2 a diasporic temporality new narrative writing from punjabi canada by anne murphy 3 a t home in the world refiguring indian national identity in a global era by rina verma williams 4 imagining the present and re presenting the imaginary belonging and homelessness among the irish diaspora in belgium by sean o dubhghaill reproducing domination on the caribbean postcolonial state collects thirteen key essays on the caribbean by percy c hintzen the foremost political sociologist in anglophone caribbean studies for the past forty years hintzen has been one of the most articulate and discerning critics of the postcolonial state in caribbean scholarship making seminal contributions to the study of caribbean politics sociology political economy and diaspora studies his work on the postcolonial elites in the region first given full articulation in his book the costs of regime survival racial mobilization elite domination and control of the state in guyana and trinidad is unparalleled reproducing domination contains some of hintzen s most important caribbean essays over a twenty five year period from 1995 to the present these works have broadened and deepened his earlier work in the costs of regime survival to encompass the entire anglophone caribbean interrogated the formation and consolidation of the postcolonial anglophone caribbean state and theorized the role of race and ethnicity in anglophone caribbean politics given the recent global resurgence of interest in elite ownership patterns and their relationship to power and governance hintzen s work assumes even more resonance beyond the shores of the caribbean this groundbreaking volume serves as an important guide for those concerned with tracing the consolidation of power in the new elite that emerged following flag independence in the 1960s after 9 11 bangladeshi americans felt pressured to see their identities in binary muslim vs american terms they refused to accept this identity not only because it does not fit but also because it curtails their ability to engage society in multiple terms and to exercise their rights as citizens bangladeshis experiences were colored by gender generation and social class while the first generation bangladeshis maintain strong connections with bangladesh and prefer to be identified as bangladeshi americas the second generation identifies as desi a generic south asian identity which helps them reconcile their parents expectations and the demands of their lives in the united states bangladeshi diasporic media are not maintain connections with their old home but also are an integral part of their lives in the diaspora provided by publisher the idea of india and the indian diasporic imagination is the product of the rich scholarship being done on the asian sub continent as well as in the many countries where south asians have settled the notion of many indias and many diasporas attempts to accommodate people with multiple identities encompassing a complex amalgam that includes the bewildering diversity of the sub continent and the challenging hybridity of the places where they have settled the shaping and reshaping of identities are fundamental to the universal quest to belong and to create new homelands while not eliminating notions of the imagined ancestral homelands the reality is as this volume demonstrates that old conceptions of india even many indias are now inadequate to accommodate the fluid identities that characterize the asian sub continental diasporas l idée de l inde et de l imagination diasporique est le résultat des nombreux travaux de recherche réalisés dans le sous continent indien ainsi que dans les divers pays où s est installée la diaspora de l asie du sud le concept d une inde multiple et diasporique tente d intégrer un peuple aux identités plurielles amalgame complexe d un sous continent indien à la diversité saisissante et de tous les pays d accueil de cette diaspora hybride la constitution inlassable des identités fonde cette quête universelle comment créer de nouvelles attaches un nouveau chez soi sans renier ni oublier la patrie remémorée telle qu elle demeure dans l imaginaire ce volume démontre que les conceptions anciennes même celles qui reposent sur une inde multiple ne parviennent plus à intégrer les identités fluides qui caractérisent les diasporas de l asie du sud
