author s statement i began attending church about three years ago after a long absence not too long after i started i was surprised to read in the church bulletin that a hunter would be giving a talk at the church even more surprising the pastor announced the talk during the opening remarks at the main service and enthusiastically encouraged the congregation to attend because this hunter could be counted on to give an inspiring christian testimonial i was shocked to learn that christians were attaching this cruel activity of hunting to jesus and christianity it reminded me of stories i had heard long ago when i was growing up about white christian ministers in the segregated south who gave sermons in which they promoted racial segregation but i had just moved to an area where hunting was popular and so i was in for even bigger shocks to learn that quite a few christian churches support hunting and that many christian hunting organizations have formed which believe that hunting is christian this was not the jesus who i knew growing up as a boy in a small indiana community that jesus did not hunt and most christians i had ever known would not have thought so either an essential element of jesus teaching seemed to me to be missing here which was that jesus compassion extended not just to human beings but to all creation the great 20th century theologian albert schweitzer understood when he wrote compassion in which all ethics must take root can only attain its full breadth and depth if it embraces all living creatures and does not limit itself to humankind schweitzer understood this and i understood it and so did many other christians and non christians wherever they lived i just couldn t allow this christian hunters paradigm to stand without speaking out against it the question for me became could i prove what i believed was the evidence there to be found in the bible and in the words of jesus himself was it there in the long stretch of human history visible for everyone to see if it could only be brought to the surface three years later this small book is it christian to hunt is the result of my study of these and other issues related to hunting it is my challenge to christian hunters and to all christians who believe it is christian to hunt deer hunter s devotional steps out into new territory for author sean jeffries while his two previous works explored the world of hunting and fishing from a secular perspective in this newest volume he combines his love of the outdoors with his christianity exploring topics such as scouting for deer during the preseason choosing your hunting equipment and the excitement of opening day each chapter in the book ties these lessons in with carefully selected scripture chosen to highlight the subject at hand the author is not afraid to delve deep into the importance of sound doctrine and each day s reading will leave you with wisdom to apply to your own christian walk the first book in the hunting for the heart of god series deer hunter s devotional is a timely piece of literature for today s sportsman containing over forty entries designed to challenge the reader and provoke him to deep thought about hunting and his own christianity the book kicks off the author s new series with a bang and sets the tone for the works that will follow in its trail this is definitely not your mama s devotional
