in as we see it suzanne newman fricke invites readers to explore the work and careers of ten contemporary native american photographers jamison banks anna hoover tom jones larry mcneil shelley niro wendy red star beverly singer matika wilber william wilson and tiffiney yazzie inspired by as we see it an exhibition of these artists work cocurated by fricke in 2015 the book showcases the extraordinary achievements of these groundbreaking photographers as we see it presents dialogues in which the artists share their unique perspectives about the history and current state of photography each chapter includes an overview of the photographer s career as well as examples of the artist's work for added context. Fricke includes an introduction, a preface that explores the original exhibition of the same name, and an essay that challenges the ghost of Edward S. Curtis whose work serves as a counterpoint to the photography of contemporary Native Americans. The text is designed to be read as a whole or in sections for anyone teaching Native American photography as we see it is an invaluable addition to the library of anyone interested in Native American photography and will be the key source for teachers, researchers, and lovers of photography for years to come.

This edited volume is the first internationally available English translation of key lectures and essays delivered at Beijing's Inside Out Art Museum over the past decade. The book elevates a chorus of voices from domestic and international intellectuals, artists, curators, and historians in a dialogue that reframes Chinese art from 1949 to the present. Part I offers critical academic complications of the story of Chinese art from the 1950s to the present as one singularly defined and stifled by political revolution. It traces important continuities and early examples of contemporary art practice to the Party's birth and consolidation of power from the 1920s onwards. It relates the formation of contemporary art to the historical course of intellectual practice in China from 1949. Part II proposes China as an issue requiring historical interrogation rather than an inviolable entity. It questions the efficacy of Asia as a term, presents case studies of independent publishers that challenged tightly crafted historical narratives, and wraps up with incisive reflections on the challenges confronting creatives and historians in China today. With chapters ranging from peer-reviewed scholarship to cuttlingly humorous personal anecdotes, its contributing authors give rare first-hand accounts of navigating pertinent historical and current situations including censorship, China's illiberalism, and COVID-19. This book offers readers an ear to heretofore closed-door conversations in leading modern and contemporary art spaces.

Finally, a way to ease the most challenging times of day with baby. Since signed gestures enable babies to tell caregivers what they want and need before they can talk, mealtime and bedtime are occasions when signing can really come in handy. Based on Dr. Miller's popular workshops, Mealtime and Bedtime Sign is a user-friendly guide featuring over 200 signs with photos, instructions, and activities. An all-new 12-song CD with upbeat music followed by calm lullabies teaches and reinforces key signs.

In its exhilarating rebound into three dimensions, color is asserting itself with a forcefulness not seen since the 1960s. The sculptures in Chromaform color in sculpture are not merely colored but are of and about color as much as they are about materials and space the more traditional concerns of sculptors whether applied stained cast or found color plays an essential role in all this work which cares as much for the decorative and sexual as it does for the formal potential of color sculpture in the 1990s as the artists seen here make evident embraces the perceptual union of color and form addressing the formal conceptual and metaphorical functions of color in sculpture the works in this book reveal diverse results limitless possibilities and a shift toward a more interdisciplinary art
