could the allies have prevented the deaths of tens of thousands of holocaust victims inspired by a conference held to mark the opening of the us holocaust memorial museum this book brings together the key contributions to this debate eva tichauer was born in berlin at the end of the first world war into a socialist jewish family after a happy childhood in a well off intellectual milieu the destiny of her family was turned upside down by the rise of hitler in 1933 they emigrated to paris in july of that year and life started to become difficult eva was in her second year of medical studies in 1939 when war was declared with fatal consequences for her and her family they were forced to the spanish frontier then returned to paris to a flat which had been searched by the gestapo eva was then compelled to break off her studies due to a quota system being imposed on jewish students hermann langbein was allowed to know and see extraordinary things forbidden to other auschwitz inmates interned at auschwitz in 1942 and classified as a non jewish political prisoner he was assigned as clerk to the chief ss physician of the extermination they were foot soldiers and officers they served in the regular army and the waffen ss and remarkably they were also jewish at least as defined by hitler's infamous race laws pursuing the thread he first unraveled in hitler's jewish soldiers bryan rigg takes a closer look at the experiences of wehrmacht soldiers who were classified as jewish in this long awaited companion volume he presents interviews with twenty one of these men whose stories are both fascinating and disturbing as many as 150 000 jews and partial jews or mischlinge served often with distinction in the german military during world war ii the men interviewed for this volume portray a wide range of experiences some came from military families some had been raised christian revealing in vivid detail how they fought for a government that robbed them of their rights and sent their relatives to extermination camps yet most continued to serve since resistance would have cost them their lives and they mistakenly hoped that by their service they could protect themselves and their families the interviews recount the nature and extent of their dilemma the divided loyalties under which many toiled during the nazi years and afterward and their sobering reflections on religion and the holocaust including what they knew about it at the time rigg relates each individual s experiences following the establishment of hitler s race laws shifting between vivid scenes of combat and the increasingly threatening situation on the home front for these men and their family members their stories reveal the constant tension in their lives how some tried to hide their identities and how a few were even aryanized as part of hitler s effort to retain reliable soldiers including field marshal erhard milch three star general helmut wilberg and naval commander bernhard rogge chilling compelling almost beyond belief these stories depict crises of conscience under the most stressful circumstances lives of hitler s jewish soldiers deepens our understanding of the complex intersection of nazi race laws and german military service both before and during world war ii

this volume brings together some important and stimulating contributions to our understanding of nazi genocide these readings have been selected for the purpose of acquainting students with a variety of views some of classic stature others very recent after an introduction that contains a brief historical overview of the holocaust the book explores problems of definition and origins and then looks at the motivation of holocaust perpetrators next it compares conflicting views about the victims survival strategies and women s experience of the camps and examines charges that the victims failed to put up any significant resistance to their tormentors the book then inquires into the attitudes and actions of bystanders while the victims were being murdered and finally considers the possibilities that some jews might have been saved from the gas chambers through military action or intercession by outside forces pref in this collection senior scholars explore the transit ion from war to uneasy peace how and why the war ended as it did whether a different resolution was possible and if the ensuing cold war was inevitable richard lukas presents the eyewitness accounts of these and other polish christians who suffered at the hands of the germans they bear witness to unspeakable horrors endured by those who were tortured forced into slavery shipped off to concentration camps and even subjected to medical experiments their stories provide a somber reminder that non jewish poles were just as likely as jews to suffer at the hands of the nazis who viewed them with nearly equal contempt a work by the italian jewish writer primo levi it describes his arrest as a member of the italian anti fascist resistance during the second world war and his incarceration in the auschwitz concentration camp from february 1944 until the camp was liberated on 27 january 1945 the book is composed of statements made by deniers and kuttner s rebuttals based on historical documents and testimonies presents the main arguments put forward by holocaust deniers some of them allege that the holocaust did not take place at all others try to diminish its scope or relativize it some revisionists although they do not deny the fact of the mass murder of jews challenge the existence of killing centers and gas chambers or try to absolve perpetrators or collaborator groups of responsibility many allegations attack the jews in one way or another and border on justification of the nazi genocide presents the full record of the trial s 121 sessions from 11 april to 15 december 1961 vol v also contains the proceedings of the appeal in the israel supreme court in 1962 which upheld the verdict of the jerusalem district court vol vi contains an annotated list of exhibits submitted at the trial a glossary of terms and a full index to the five volumes of the proceedings articles identify and describe individuals and events connected with the persecution of jews and others across europe in the 1930s and 1940s sisters in sorrow voices of care in the holocaust gives voice to women who took care of the sick in the camps of nazi germany which had been constructed for the sole purpose of human extermination for some individuals like the women whose stories are recounted in this book there remained glimmers of hope in the irrational camps of the holocaust those who were capable and willing were sometimes able to help others live thereby retaining a measure of value in their own lives as well as contributing to their fellow prisoners although much has been written about the holocaust and the nazi labor and extermination camps little specifically on women has appeared in recent years that lack has begun to be addressed and sisters in sorrow contributes another perspective on the experiences of women women exhibited ingenuity and techniques that differed significantly from those of men in adapting to their horrific environments the survival skills of the women whose histories appear here frequently resulted from their backgrounds as homemakers and caregivers to this collection of memoirs roger a ritvo and diane m plotkin have added important historical background giving context to the stories in compiling this collection ritvo and plotkin allow these women to chronicle the existence of human decency in those indecent infernos and the paradox of healing in the face of the final solution holocaust religious and philosophical implications is an anthology specifically designed for use as a textbook for courses on the holocaust in universities and adult study groups it is a compilation of what are now classic pieces in the voluminous literature on the holocaust pieces by raul hilberg hannah arendt primo levi george steiner richard rubenstein and irving greenberg all organized around what the editors have found to be the most often asked questions by their students 1 is the holocaust unique 2 what really happened in the ghettos and death camps 3 who knew what was going on 4 how could people do the things they did 5 what about god governed by the thesis that the holocaust left fundamental questions holocaust religious and philosophical implications in addition to being organized around the five themes identified above addresses the multiple implications of complexities such as resistance during the holocaust and jewish and christian identity after auschwitz
