an unquestioned assumption of contemporary politics is that the left owns minority groups in the sense that the left exclusively champions the interests of minorities and is for that reason owed the allegiance of minorities this in turn gives rise to the sense of dissonance created by right wing dissenters the black social conservative the gay ultra nationalist the female libertarian the poor pro capitalist this same dissonance exists for women and feminism creating a default assumption that a feminist is a left wing woman we don't make a distinction between left wing feminists and feminists we don't need to there's nothing a philosopher loves more than an unquestioned assumption and in this book political philosopher holly lawford smith systematically dismantles the assumption that feminism is an exclusively left wing project once dismantled the path is clear to a new set of questions who counts as a feminist in the first place if women from anywhere on the political spectrum can be feminists who is it that feminists should or shouldn't be working with and what can be said more generally about the ethics of alliances and coalitions in feminism beyond left and right lawford smith makes the case for non partisan feminism feminism outside the constraints of the left right political spectrum a feminism for and about all women as women this book reflects and extends the great debates that schools colleges and universities are having in response to the profound moral conflicts and personal questions facing professionals today what should we teach our students what values should we communicate and nurture what should be the role of the traditional liberal arts in professional education how should schools and colleges respond to the demands of women and minorities for a more inclusive curriculum the authors explore ongoing theoretical and practical considerations of graduate professional education through the ethical and social issues facing professionals in public service administrators teachers counselors nurses or lawyers are recognizing that they face similar questions about their personal and professional lives is it possible to sustain a set of fully human values as a practicing professional as a member of a public organization how does one deal with dilemmas involving conflicting priorities and ambiguous goals the authors responses to these questions are presented as themes describing connections between curriculum and pedagogy they have designed an approach to ethical and social questions respectful of the contributions of adult learners and the need to provide diverse perspectives this unique collection of articles on emotion by wittgensteinian philosophers provides a fresh perspective on the questions framing the current philosophical and scientific debates about emotions and offers significant insights into the role of emotions for understanding interpersonal relations and the relation between emotion and ethics
