in un contesto scolastico sempre più complesso e diversificato è necessario ripensare i modelli tradizionali di insegnamento questo volume propone un approccio innovativo fondato sull'esperienza diretta dell'autrice docente nella scuola pubblica e formatrice in ambito educativo e ispirato tanto alla pedagogia montessoriana quanto alle recenti acquisizioni delle neuroscienze. È centrale il modello della classe autonoma in cui gli studenti organizzati in piccoli gruppi apprendono in modo cooperativo sviluppando competenze trasversali: autonomia e consapevolezza. I risultati sono maggiore motivazione, miglioramento delle relazioni interpersonali e un apprendimento più solido e duraturo. Attraverso un'analisi chiara e supportata da esempi concreti, l'autrice offre una riflessione critica sui limiti dell'insegnamento frontale, strumenti teorici e pratici per l'applicazione del metodo in ogni disciplina, chiavi di lettura per comprendere meglio il mondo adolescenziale, strategie didattiche basate su processi cognitivi e meccanismi di memorizzazione efficaci. Completa il volume un quaderno pratico di attività sperimentate sul campo pensato per favorire il ripasso e la rielaborazione autonoma dei contenuti da parte degli studenti. Prefazioni di Sylvie Deslaibes e Daniele Novara. Postfazione di Michela Procaccianti.

Il volume intende dimostrare come la vera ed unica scuola è quella che non solo sceglie di fare ricerca ma che necessariamente fa ricerca. Alla prima parte, impostata a livello teorico, segue una seconda a carattere metodologico dedicata a mostrare con la messa a punto di alcuni modelli esemplificativi come si può fare ricerca nella scuola. Le due parti, quella teorica e quella metodologica, hanno una sola ma ambiziosa finalità: quella non solo di rimarcare con forza ma di dimostrare con una chiarezza logicamente difendibile che fare ricerca è l'unico modo per educarsi e per educare e che quindi la unica scuola possibile è quella che fa ricerca.

This collection brings together international teacher educators to employ a long view of an historic and values based dialectic in teacher education. The authors reflect how employing historical consciousness to look back can offer greater continuity to teachers' moral and political values within their training. The book draws on research from experienced teacher educators representing different historical, social and political contexts in North America, Europe, Asia as well as in post conflict South Africa. Within each section the authors reflect on the development of the moral and political values of pre service and in service teachers in an era of global neo liberalism and how this is inextricably bound up with the narratives of professionals in the past within their own national context. Each chapter takes a long view of the role of historical consciousness in informing the moral and political values of pre service and in service teachers, providing examples of how international teacher educators can collectively support one another in restoring a vibrant values based dialectic within the processes, pedagogies and provision of university and school based training for which they are responsible. The long view approach offers a compelling argument for the need to connect pre service and in service teachers' values and narrative to the legacy of professionals of the past. Moral and political values in teacher education over time will be of great interest to researchers, academics and students in teacher education, comparative education and the history of education it will also be of interest to international university and school based teacher educators and policymakers in the field a big project like this handbook means that you incur debts and not only to your authors and your publisher as editors we along with our colleague elaine unterhalter who edited the section on postcolonialism would like to thank most warmly those authors who delivered on time and who did not fuss but just got on and did a rate job we would also like to thank all authors who did deliver which was almost everyone we asked we know that some of our authors worked in very difficult private circumstances as they were finishing their chapters and we hope the publication of the volumes will later be for them a happy reminder of difficulties and disasters overcome the only sad theme is that some very close colleagues with whom we were working and for whom we had the greatest respect and liking became very ill and died while the volumes were being prepared we decided to ask for copyright permissions to publish something of theirs these permissions were graciously given by two major journals and with the agreement also of our publishers springer rolland paulston and terry mclaughlin have examples of their writing in this handbook taking a multidimensional approach this book sheds light on the evolution of organizational studies in a structured and systematic way against the background of economic and social changes in recent decades by doing so the book focuses on the plurality of organizing models as a central concept this plurality is important to the survival of the firm in response to the growing complexity of the economic social and technological innovation that has arisen as a result of globalization the book goes beyond the traditional approach to the study of organizations of a structural and functionalistic type it investigates the role of cultures and the ethical symbolic and value dimensions in the redefinition dynamics of strategic assets as well as the search for new governance models in innovative organizations further it discusses the role of leadership in relation to the development of professional groups and the skills necessary for the management of endo organizational inter organizational and trade union negotiation processes finally the book analyzes the economic social and cultural change in societies and discusses how companies and organizations of all types can develop cultures of innovation that may lead to socially inclusive governance this book will appeal to students researchers and scholars of economics business and the social sciences as well as professionals and practitioners interested in a better understanding of how organizations function in today's globalized world
