one of the world's foremost bible experts offers a groundbreaking presentation of the five books of moses in the bible with sources revealed richard elliot friedman offers a new visual presentation of the five books of moses genesis exodus leviticus numbers and deuteronomy unlocking the complex and fascinating tapestry of their origins different colors and type styles allow readers to easily identify each of the distinct sources showcasing friedman's highly acclaimed and dynamic translation

this volume includes the first edition of a previously unknown text which throws wholly new light on the intellectual history of early medieval europe the biblical commentaries never before printed or studied represent the teaching of two extraordinarily gifted greek scholars who came to england from the byzantine east theodore archbishop of canterbury 668 90 and his colleague hadrian d 710 established a school in canterbury to which they brought a wealth of experience and learning these scholars applied their knowledge to the exposition of the bible to a small group of anglo saxon scholars who recorded their teaching the commentaries throw new light on the range of subjects which were taught in canterbury at the time medicine philosophy rhetoric roman civil law as well as the biblical text itself illustrating what was undoubtedly the high point of biblical scholarship between late antiquity and the renaissance because both hadrian and theodore were from greek speaking parts of the roman empire their commentaries reveal new links between the byzantine east and the latin west in the seventh century the present commentaries found by professor bischoff in milan in 1936 constitute one of the most important medieval texts discovered this century the edition is introduced by substantial chapters on the intellectual background of the texts their manuscript sources the lives and milieux of the two greek scholars the latin texts themselves are accompanied by facing english translations and extensive notes this commentary edited by catherine clark kroeger and mary evans is an attempt to answer the question what happens when we look at scripture through women's eyes new and helpful insights from an international team of scholars show how scripture is relevant to women and men alike making it a wonderful complement to other commentaries since the beginning of critical scholarship biblical texts have been dated using linguistic evidence in recent years this has been a controversial topic however until now there has been no introduction to and comprehensive study of the field volume i introduces the field of linguistic dating of biblical texts particularly to intermediate and advanced students of biblical hebrew with a reasonable background in the language but also to scholars of the hebrew bible in general who have not been exposed to the full scope of issues it outlines topics at a basic level before entering into detailed discussion many text samples are presented for study and readers are introduced to significant linguistic features of the texts through notes on the pages detailed notes on these text samples provide a background concrete illustrations and a point of departure for discussion of the general and theoretical issues discussed in each chapter that will make this volume useful as a classroom textbook
