as we face new challenges from climate change and the rise of populism in western politics and beyond there is little doubt that we are entering a new configuration of world politics driven by nostalgia for past certainties or fear of what is coming next references to normalcy have been creeping into political discourse with people either vying for a return to a past normalcy or coping with the new normal this book traces main discourses and practices associated with normalcy in world politics visoka and lemay hébert mostly focus on how dominant states and international organizations try to manage global affairs through imposing normalcy over fragile states restoring normalcy over disaster affected states and accepting normalcy over suppressive states they show how discourses and practices come together in constituting normalization interventions and how in turn they play in shaping the dynamics of continuity and change in world politics how can campus life become more hospitable to the human spirit this book invites everyone concerned with the quality and meaning of campus life to engage in new conversations about the spiritual and religious dimensions of diversity leadership student development and learning this book challenges conventions in higher education that neglect religious identity and spiritual exploration while perpetuating disconnection competition and separation from our natural and social environments it offers innovative approaches for positive change while addressing the complex legal organizational and cultural issues involved in this conversation grounded in original research and professional practice this collection includes reflections from college presidents campus leaders student affairs staff members and faculty in 2001 the first of a series of ethnographic conferences took place in los angeles with an emphasis on fieldwork since then the field has gained a much larger disciplinary footprint while the increase in substantial research in the field has risen dramatically ethnographic styles of writing have emerged that fail to include much discernible fieldwork this volume of the annals broaches the subject of improving fieldwork in the ethnographic spectrum through old fashioned or shoe leather fieldwork at a more recent ethnographic conference at yale university in 2010 with a follow up in june 2011 emerging ethnographers were mentored by senior scholars in which they presented an informal yet supportive setting where ethnographic fieldwork could be constructively critiqued this volume is a product of those collective efforts the articles in this volume include insight into relations among affluent minorities the status system we find in today sports and a portrait of an employer of undocumented workers among other articles this volume will appeal to both undergraduate and graduate students with a wide range of interests including sociology education anthropology and race and gender conflicts and problems
