philip j ivanhoe's richly annotated translation of this classic work is accompanied by his engaging interpretation and commentary a lucid introduction and a language appendix that compares eight classic translations of the opening passage of the work and invites the reader to consider the principles upon which each was rendered

dao de jing is one of the richest most suggestive and most popular works of philosophy and literature composed in china between the late sixth and the late fourth centuries b c its enigmatic verses have inspired artists philosophers poets religious thinkers and general readers down to our own times this new translation both revelatory and authentic captures much of the beauty and nuance of the original work in an extensive and accessible commentary to his translation moss roberts reveals new depths of dao de jing this edition is distinguished by the literary quality of the translation its new renderings for a number of the stanzas and by roberts's knowledgeable contextualizations utilizing recently discovered manuscripts and chinese scholarship based on them he is able to shed new light on the work's historical and philosophical contexts this translation shows that dao de jing is far more than a work of personal inspiration it is also a work of universal scope that makes penetrating comments on politics statecraft cosmology aesthetics and ethics roberts brings these themes to our attention shows how they are integrated into the work as a whole and demonstrates the relevance of these topics for our own times this translation presents daoism's basic text in highly readable contemporary english incorporating the latest scholarship in the field including the most recent discoveries of ancient manuscripts in the 1970s and 90s the book explains daodejing's often cryptic verses in a clear and concise way the introduction interprets the daodejing's poetic imagery in the context of ancient chinese symbolism and a brief philosophical analysis accompanies each of the 81 translated chapters of the daodejing

a new version of the dao that was 30 years in the making it truly is an easy to understand text that is written in english but retains the tone of the original chinese text it provides a blank page opposite each chapter for the reader to record their own thoughts and ideas having been written by a layman and not a scholar it does not contain any academic analysis it is solely the evaluation of one attempting to understand and live by the words of the old master leading scholars examine religious and philosophical dimensions of the chinese classic known as the daodejing or laozi

a new translation of the ancient chinese book of the tao dust jacket front for centuries the ancient chinese philosophical text the daodejing tao te ching has fascinated and frustrated its readers while it offers a wealth of rich philosophical insights concerning the cultivation of one's body and attaining one's proper place within nature and the cosmos its teachings and structure can be enigmatic and obscure hans georg moeller presents a clear and coherent description and analysis of this vaguely understood chinese classic he explores the recurring images and ideas that shape the work and offers a variety of useful approaches to understanding and appreciating this canonical text moeller expounds on the core philosophical issues addressed in the daodejing clarifying such crucial concepts as yin and yang and dao and de he explains its teachings on a variety of subjects including sexuality ethics desire cosmology human nature the emotions time death and the death penalty the daodejing also offers a distinctive ideal of social order and political leadership and presents a philosophy of war and peace an illuminating exploration the daodejing is an interesting foil to the philosophical outlook of western humanism and contains surprising parallels between its teachings and nontraditional contemporary philosophies tao te ching also commonly known as lao tzu is perhaps the most important of chinese classical texts with an unparalleled influence on chinese thought this bilingual edition consists of two parts the english text in part one is a reprint of the earlier translation of the so called wang pi text first published by penguin books in 1963 part two is the fresh translation of a text which is a conflation of two manuscripts of the lao tzu dating at the latest from the early western han and discovered at ma wang tui in december 1973 the result is a text with a fuller use of particles free from the scribal errors and editorial tampering of subsequent ages laozi also lao tzu  $\square$ la $\square$  $\square$ dz $\square$  or lao tze chinese 老子 pinyin l $\square$ oz $\square$  literally old master was an ancient chinese philosopher and writer he is known as the reputed author of the tao te ching the founder of philosophical taoism and a deity in religious taoism and traditional chinese religions a semi legendary figure laozi is usually dated to around the 6th century bce and reckoned a contemporary of confucius but some historians contend that he actually lived during the warring states period of the 5th or 4th century bce a central figure in chinese culture laozi is claimed by both the emperors of the tang dynasty and modern people of the li surname as a founder of their lineage laozi s work has been embraced by various anti authoritarian movements 4 as well as chinese legalism the tao te ching is a classic chinese text written around the 6th century bc by laozi a zhou dynasty courtier while its authorship is debated the text remains a fundamental building block of taoism and one of the most influential works of its time today it s one of the most translated works in the world the work itself is a series of 81 short poetic sections each one written in a fluid ambiguous style leaving them open to wide interpretation subjects range from advice to those in power to advice to regular people and adages for daily living because of its ambiguous nature the tao te ching is famously difficult to translate and many if not all translations are significantly influenced by the translator s state of mind this translation is by james legge a famous scottish sinologist and the first professor of chinese at oxford university traditionally attributed to lao tzu an older contemporary of confucius 551 479 bc it is now thought that the work was compiled in about the fourth century bc an anthology of wise sayings it offers a model by which the individual can live rather than explaining the human place in the universe the moral code it encourages is based on modesty and self restraint and the rewards reaped for such a life are harmony and flow of life dao de jing or so simply referred to as the laozi is a chinese classic text the text s true authorship and date of composition or compilation are still debated the oldest excavated portion dates back to the late 4th century bce but modern scholarship dates other parts of the text as having been written or at least compiled later than the earliest portions of the zhuangzi the tao te ching along with the zhuangzi is a fundamental text for both philosophical and religious taoism and strongly influenced other schools such as legalism confucianism and chinese buddhism which when first introduced into china was largely interpreted through the use of daoist words and concepts many chinese artists including poets painters calligraphers and even gardeners have used the daodejing as a source of inspiration its influence has also spread widely outside east asia and it is among the most translated works in world literature the pursuit of power happiness and life s meaning is as old as history itself as the tao te ching the book of the way and its virtue attests dating from two and a half millennia ago this timeless text consists of 81 brief chapters that form one of the world s most profound and influential spiritual traditions the tao played a significant role in the development of buddhist thought and this classic of meditative insight continues to inform modern readers with its emphasis on mindfulness centered on the principle of wu wei or naturalness and simplicity its teachings outline an attitude of spontaneity and noninterference that fosters individuality and self awareness this high quality gift edition of the authoritative james legge translation is an enduring companion on the mystical path to spiritual freedom daodejing tao te ching by chinese philosopher laozi lao tzu is one of the most popular chinese texts with more than 100 translations available why another author charles q wu believes that his explorations of the infinite nature of the daodejing can bring the readers yet another step closer to what laozi actually says and how he says it through still another translation the strength of wu's version comes from his superior bilingual talents and unique cross cultural perspective drawing widely from both chinese and western sources he provides his target audience of nonacademics and non chinese readers with line by line bilingual text and commentaries and tries to retain the original beauty of the poetry and paradoxes of laozi s writings his ambition here is for english speaking readers to experience what laozi sounds like as if they were reading the work in chinese taking a fresh look at what is known as the wang bi edition of laozi s immortal work wu makes use of new findings from recent archaeological discoveries and invites readers to participate in the translation and interpretation as an open door open ended process rather than claiming finality in his translation wu sees himself as a tour guide leading readers toward unexpected aha moments as they encounter a more thorough understanding the daodejing
