from ancient greece through the present day women writers have confronted the male urge to make war by imagining communities in which intuitive bonding among individuals questions and replaces masculinist values of aggression and competition women s vision in western literature traces the gender gap in literature from 600 b c to the present day through an examination of seven extraordinary women writers from sappho to christa wolf combining close readings with a comprehensive overview of the careers of these women porter shows how the threat the experience and the aftermath of war incites them to imagine tolerant empathic communities this careful consideration of these seven great writers brings to light an underappreciated aspect of western women s writing starting with sappho porter illustrates this ancient poet s ability to rewrite the homeric war rhetoric to reflect a non possessive love experience marie de france arranges traditional animal fables to imply an open ended situation ethics according to the author and madame de stael in a europe torn by napoleonic conquests advocates cross cultural unions among countries in the works of mary shelley we see the warnings of the dangers of vainglorious soulless technology and virginia woolf depicts intuitive bonding beyond gender stereotypes amid the ruins of war and crumbling empire he shows how marguerite yourcenar dreams of a new era of world peace after hitler s defeat and how christa wolf tries to cope with her country s nazi past even as she reaffirms european identity threatened by annihilations in nuclear conflict medieval women s writing is a major new contribution to our understanding of women s writing in england 1100 1500 the most comprehensive account to date it includes writings in latin and french as well as english and works for as well as by women marie de france clemence of barking julian of norwich margery kempe and the paston women are discussed alongside the old english lives of women saints the life of christina of markyate the st albans psalter and the legends of women saints by osbern bokenham medieval women s writing addresses these key questions who were the first women authors in the english canon what do we mean by women s writing in the middle ages what do we mean by authorship how can studying medieval writing contribute to our understanding of women s literary history diane watt argues that female patrons audiences readers and even subjects contributed to the production of texts and their meanings whether written by men or women only an understanding of textual production as collaborative enables us to grasp fully women s engagement with literary culture this radical rethinking of early womens literary history has major implications for all scholars working on medieval literature on ideas of authorship and on women s writing in later periods the book will become standard reading for all students of these debates twenty nine collected essays represent a critical history of shakespeare s play as text and as theater beginning with samuel johnson in 1765 and ending with a review of the royal shakespeare company production in 1991 the criticism centers on three aspects of the play the love friendship debate unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 we have not used ocr optical character recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 in books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc we have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy
