the question why did god create viruses bacteria pathogens venomous creatures and poisonous chemicals is usually asked by irreligious skeptics to challenge gods authority design and goodness it is also asked by those of faith either out of innocent ignorance or curiosity life per se is a balance of life forms co existing because they were created by god by means of obvious intelligent design the authors show the vast majority of bacteria viruses and insects are beneficial the reason some pathogens are harmful is discussed in some detail furthermore the role of toxic chemicals which are beneficial and even essential to human and animal life at low to moderate concentrations is also covered the authors conclusions are well documented by several hundred peer reviewed scholarly articles and books if you have ever wondered about why in gods creation there are parasites and pathogens ticks and toxins maladies and mosquitoes then you owe it to yourself to consider the scholarly explanations that set the record straight the professional perspective of bergman and hoff if you are looking for sound scientific answers to the question why did god create life forms that have harmful side effects to other organisms this is the book to read this catechism is divided into three parts the first part treats of faith the second of morals the third of the means of grace in the first part our lord appears in his character of teacher in the second in his character of king and in the third in his character of high priest and since this catechism proposes as its primary object to answer the question for what purpose are we here upon earth thereby emphasizing and giving prominence to mans high calling and destiny it is especially suited to the present day when the pursuit of material interests self indulgence and pleasure engrosses the attention of so many this catechism is in fact nothing more nor less than an abstract of our lords teaching and may be called a guide book for the christian on the road to heaven preface
