bassein examines the pervasive linkage between women's sexuality and death in western thought and literature and concludes that there is no reasonable basis for much of it she first explores how language reveals and reinforces the bond between women and death she then discusses traditional christianity as a vehicle for perpetuating this tie and demonstrates that negative attitudes and brutality associated with women find expression in otherwise commendable works of art the author examines nineteenth and twentieth century fiction and poetry to show the different ways writers have handled women in sexual situations bassein concludes that tracing the origins and prevalence of the automatic association and seeking alternatives help us recognize the irrational and unconscious tendencies that are at the basis of stereotype formation and tacit acceptance of brutality betty cannon is the first to explore the implications of sartrean philosophy for the freudian psychoanalytic tradition drawing upon sartre s work as well as her own experiences as a practicing therapist she shows that sartre was a fellow traveler who appreciated freud s psychoanalytic achievements but rebelled against the determinism of his metatheory the mind sartre argued cannot be reduced to a collection of drives and structures nor is it enslaved to its past as freud s work suggested sartre advocated an existentialist psychoanalysis based on human freedom and the self s ability to reshape its own meaning and value through the sartrean approach cannon offers a resolution to the crisis in psychoanalytic metatheory created by the current emphasis on relational needs by comparing sartre with freud and influential post freudians like melanie klein otto kernber margaret mahler d w winnicott heinz kohut harry stack sullivan and jacques lacan she demonstrates why the sartrean model transcends the limitations of traditional freudian metatheory in the process she adds a new dimension to our understanding of sartre and his place in twentieth century philosophy
