throughout their 600 year history the bauls of bengal india have kept no official scriptures their esoteric spiritual teachings on the use of breath sex and devotion are encoded in the words of their songs poems this is a translation of 204 songs including an extensive introduction to the history and faith of the bauls and the composition of their music includes a cd of authentic baul artists recorded over the last forty years an exquisite presentation of a rarely documented genre

this book explores historical and cultural aspects of modern and contemporary bengal through the performance centred study of a particular repertoire the songs of the saint composer bhaba pagla 1902 1984 who is particularly revered among baul and fakir singers the author shows how songs if examined as sacred scriptures represent multi dimensional texts for the study of south asian religions revealing how previous studies about bauls mirror the history of folkloristics in bengal this book presents sacred songs as a precious symbolic capital for a marginalized community of dislocated and unorthodox hindus who consider the practice of singing in itself an integral part of
