essay from the year 2017 in the subject history miscellaneous university of calcutta indian statistical institute course masters language english abstract this essay is about using a semiotic angle to evaluate the existence and activities of a soldier and a revolutionary in a stratified manner the most common definitional difference between a soldier and a revolutionary is that a soldier is a person who serves in an army and obeys orders given to him by a government and a revolutionary is someone who is involved in causing a complete or dramatic change in a society country or in the international sphere my concern here is the projection of a soldier who is a part of a national government and a revolutionary in both national and international sphere the word soldier is used almost unanimously in a positive sense but the word revolutionary is used in both positive and negative sense the reason is a soldier is always on the government's side whereas a revolutionary stands against the government i am not here taking into account the notion of government in exile as i am here dealing with a country's electorally elected government and a government in exile is also a revolutionary government or organization and it stands on the opposite side of an electorally elected government
