the natural law of cycles assembles scientific work from different disciplines to show how research on angular momentum and rotational symmetry can be used to develop a law of energy cycles as a local and global influence angular momentum regulates small scale rotational cycles such as the swimming of fish in water the running of animals on land and the flight of birds in air also it regulates large scale rotation cycles such as global currents of wind and water james h bunn introduces concepts of symmetry balance and angular momentum showing how together they shape the mobile symmetries of animals chapter 1 studies the configurations of animals as they move in a head first direction chapter 2 shows how sea animals follow currents and tides generated by the rotational cycles of the earth in chapter 3 bunn explores the biomechanical pace of walking as a partial cycle of rotating limbs on a large scale angular momentum governs balanced shifts in plate tectonics chapter 4 begins with an examination of rotational wind patterns in terms of the counter balancing forces of angular momentum the author shows how these winds augment the flights of birds during migrations a final chapter centres on the conservation of energy as the most basic principle of science bunn argues that in the nineteenth century the unity of nature was seen in the emergent concept of energy not matter as the source of power including the movements of animals and machines in each chapter bunn features environmental writers who celebrate mobile symmetries this book will interest students naturalists and advocates of the environmental movement the book the quest for singularitythe twin journey describes the human efforts to know the origin of the universe which happens to be as old as billions of years in that infinitely large timescale the human beings are occupying a very very small period of time even then there has been no dearth of initiatives and urge for gathering knowledge to unveil the secrets of source of the vast creation all around and to search for history of the primordial days when one section of the intelligent humans utilized the power of their innovative minds to refine their knowledge through continuous experimental ways of verifying the natural processes the other section tried to evolve extraordinary methods of majestic occult arts and process of self realization the deep rooted beliefs on supernatural power had been another way to get close to that mystic source it has been therefore the journey through different paths in search for the same goal the truth
