in the five years since the first edition of conflict and development was published the awareness of the relationship between conflicts and development has grown exponentially developmental factors can act as a trigger for violence as well as for ending violence and for triggering post conflict reconstruction the book explores the complexity of the links between violent conflict usually civil wars and development under development and uneven development the second edition incorporates significant changes in the field including the g7 initiative the new deal on fragile states world trade talks major policy documents from the undp and world bank and updates on the afghanistan and iraq wars

over the past decade a new awareness of the relationship between conflicts and development has grown developmental factors can act as a trigger for violence as well as for ending violence and for triggering post conflict reconstruction this book explores the complexity of the links between violent conflict usually civil wars and development under development and uneven development it emphasizes the connections between stable developed economies and civil wars in other parts of the world and examines how structural factors such as the organization of the global economy virtually condemn some regions to conflict and under development this valuable introductory text explains reviews and critically evaluates this complex relationship it focuses on intra state conflicts and complex political emergencies that combine transnational and internal characteristics attention is also given to inter state conflicts chapters emphasize how the relationship between conflict and development traverses many scales macro meso and micro and dimensions economic political and cultural furthermore it explains how different developmental challenges and opportunities emerge along the full life cycle of conflict specifically the role of poverty state market civil society globalization humanitarian aid refugees gender and health within conflict dynamics are examined the book also investigates specific developmental issues emerging during conflict management and post conflict reconstruction both authors have a background in conducting research in deeply divided societies and argue that many of the processes connected with war and peace making deliberately write people out of the equation this book attempts to write people in by drawing on contemporary theoretical debates and examining current policies and events the text unpacks the difficult and complex aspects of the relationships between armed conflict and development and makes them accessible interesting and policy relevant it considers how peace making peace building and post war reconstruction are usually more sustainable and successful if politicians policy makers entrepreneurs and those working for international ngos take on board local opinion and capacity written in an accessible style the book considers the main contemporary theories and arguments on conflict development and the interactions between the two the text is illuminated throughout with case studies drawn from africa the balkans asia and the middle east the dynamic systems approach is a rapidly expanding advancement in the study of developmental research particularly in the domain of adolescent development it provides a unique way of examining the subject and this innovative study of developmental processes helps social scientists to translate dynamic systems conceptualizations into clear empirical research that readers will be able to implement themselves the first part of this edited book discusses techniques that describe and assess specific process characteristics such as variability sudden jumps and attractor states the second part explores the different techniques for building a dynamic systems model which can simulate the behaviour of a system to investigate the mechanisms behind the processes each chapter describes one technique and is based on a specific practical example of its application in adolescent development step by step instructions for model building and examples of ready made models are provided on the website that belongs to the book psycompress.com dynamic systems approach this book provides a clear step by step description of theories and techniques that are designed for the study of developmental processes and is therefore ideal for researchers of developmental psychology who do not specialise in statistics or research methods this major handbook comprises cutting edge essays from leading scholars in the field of conflict analysis and resolution car the volume provides a comprehensive overview of the core concepts theories approaches processes and intervention designs in the field the central theme is the value of multidisciplinary approaches to the analysis and much has already been written about the effects of the changes of the cold war on conflict the ongoing disengagement of east and west from bipolar cold war politics has resulted in an unstable international political situation which is characterized by regional conflicts most analyses now concentrate on the consequences for europe and the former communist central and east european states this book however explores the effects for the third world the contributors provide major theoretical analyses of the causes of conflict in developing countries four main factors are distinguished the processes of state formation and nation building the rise or return of ethnicity and nationalism socio economic factors and the armaments conflict nexus the volume also provides in depth regional analyses as well as policy perspectives on the issue of conflict and development east asia is a region deeply affected by conflict colonial ideological and national wars have left their scars and legacies on regional international and national governance yet east asian post conflict development experiences have been viewed as remarkably successful the three largest economies of east asia japan china and south korea have all experienced dramatic growth but immediately prior to their periods of expansion all experienced the devastating impacts of international conflicts and or civil upheaval these post conflict development success stories do not however tell the whole tale other states in east asia and in particular certain regions within some of these states while apparently emerging from similar conflictual backgrounds have experienced far less positive transitions this volume critically assesses measurements of success in east asian post conflict development from a human centered perspective this involves a major re evaluation of accepted accounts of domestic governance and international relations in east asia from both a comparative and inter disciplinary viewpoint case study rich this volume provides policy prescriptions for east asian donors and actors in an effort to provide asian solutions for asian problems achieving security and development in the post conflict era is a challenge with which stakeholders have to grapple while stakeholders are quick to claim success when physical hostilities cease between the belligerents ensuring sustainable peace has been a daunting task in some countries in africa the post conflict era is characterized by organizing elections to ensure greater political participation it is believed that elections will begin a process of openness and trust in the governing system a supplement to electoral democracy has been power sharing arrangements used to resolve post election violence and ensure stability within the state however what underlie most conflicts in africa is the marginalization and lack of an enabling environment to achieve individual life objectives policies and strategies to achieve security and enhance development post conflict have at best been an extremely slow process and sometimes elusive in sierra leone for instance though the official declaration of the end of war and the successful general elections held in 2002 2007 and 2012 have led to some domestic stability developmental targets in the post conflict era have proceeded at a snail s pace the country continues to rank at the bottom of most undp human development indicators since 2002 human security and sierra leone s post conflict development analyzes the extent to which human security issues have been addressed and subsequently implemented in the post conflict reconstruction process while sierra leone has made tremendous efforts at implementing reforms in the areas of political sensitization promotion of civil rights and civil liberties as well as personal security the lack on the part of the government to effectively address the unemployment problem has negatively affected security and developmental targets thus the post conflict management strategies in sierra leone fail to secure and promote some aspects of human security leading to fragile peace and slow progress in achieving sustainable security and development human security is an all encompassing phenomenon and must be addressed to achieve overall wellbeing of the people especially in post conflict environments by bringing into dialogue modern systems theory and international relations this text provides theoretically innovative and empirically rich perspectives on conflicts in world society this collection contrasts niklas luhmann s theory of world society in modern systems theory with more classical approaches to the study of conflicts offering a fresh perspective on territorial conflicts in international relations it includes chapters on key issues such as conflicts and human rights conflicts in the middle east and sub saharan africa war and violence greek turkish relations conflict theory the role of states in world societal conflicts legal territorial disputes in australia hegemony and conflict in global law conflict management after 9 11 while all contributions draw from the theory of world society in modern systems theory the authors offer rich multi disciplinary perspectives which bring in concepts from international relations peace and conflict studies sociology law and philosophy territorial conflicts in world society will appeal to international relations specialists peace and conflict researchers and sociologists though conflicts continue to arise over land use and land cover changes the conversion of forest land to cropland or other land uses such as housing and urban development have been on the rise in recent years decisions regarding land use and land cover influence climate change as well as various natural processes while proper changes can minimize the effects and speed of climatic changes the continued adverse changes may be accelerating the deterioration of the world s condition examining international land use policies changes and conflicts presents the latest research on the present status of land use and land cover changes throughout the world in order to determine appropriate land use policies that can protect earth s present and future condition the findings of the studies investigate the conflicts behind the land tenure and land uses in different countries of the world and examines existing policies and the reasons behind changes in them ultimately the book provides readers with knowledge on how land can be managed in a sustained manner how landscape models are helpful for predicting and determining future land uses how land can be managed with the best architectural measures and how urban forestry is helpful for better environmental management and adapting or mitigating climate change effects land users agriculturalists urban planners policymakers government officials researchers academicians and students looking to improve their understanding of this topic for better use of land in the future will find this book to be an asset to their current research this edited volume provides new insight into the interplay between governance and conflict the articles in this volume deal with this problematic dimension from a variety of perspectives covering different actors and topics as well as a vast array of geographical locations and entities that include both states and de facto or unrecognized states such as transnistria scholars and practitioners have contributed to this work to bridge the gap between academia and practice the volume blends scholarly research with examples of practical application to approach the conundrums of governance in and during conflict in a comprehensive way this book is a practical resource to help leaders manage resolve conflicts and reconcile the parties involved essential skills to accomplish this goal are embedded in discussion of major concepts and descriptions of real life situations during the 1990s the drive of liberal peace efforts in the form of humanitarian intervention transformed the ways in which traditional development assistance operated in war and post war situations from somalia and rwanda to bosnia and sri lanka conflict security and development became more intertwined as more integrated programmes and interventions were advocated by the international community conflict and development whilst serving as an in depth introduction to key themes and context questions the extent to which international aid has over reached in seeking to engage more centrally in addressing the causes and consequences of violent conflict using this framework the author traces the evolution of the conflict and development agenda and explores the politics of aid and policymaking in relation to international conflict by taking a combined approach of theory policy and practice this vital new book explores and comprehensively explains the impact of conflict on development and vice versa through the series of concise thematic chapters the guidance presented in this book provides step by step guidance on the core steps in planning carrying out and learning from evaluation as well as some basic principles on programme design and management inhabitants of poor rural areas in the global south heavily depend on natural resources in their immediate vicinity conflicts over and exploitation of these resources whether it is water fish wood fuel minerals or land severely affect their livelihoods the contributors to this volume leave behind the polarised debate previously surrounding the relationship between natural resources and conflict preferring a more nuanced approach that allows for multiple causes at various levels the contributions cover a wide array of resources geographical contexts africa asia and latin america and conflict dynamics most are of a comparative nature exploring experiences of conflict as well as cooperation in multiple regions this volume finds its origin in an innovative research programme with the acronym cocoon steered by the netherlands organisation for scientific research nwo wotro and involving universities and civil society partners in many countries it presents the conceptual approaches adhered to by each of seven interdisciplinary projects ranging from green criminology and political ecology to institutional analysis legal pluralism and identity politics the volume will be of interest to academics and practitioners concerned with an understanding of conflict as well as cooperation over natural resources international law separates international from non international conflicts this book discusses how this categorisation operates identifying the legal questions raised case studies show how this impacts on issues like detention in armed conflict and the relationship between human rights and humanitarian law this book seeks to examine the causes of escalation and de escalation in intrastate conflicts specifically the volume seeks to map the processes and dynamics that lead groups challenging existing power structures to engage in violent struggle the processes and dynamics that contribute to the de escalation of violent struggle and the participation of challengers in peaceful political activities and the processes and dynamics that sustain and nurture this transformation by integrating the latest ideas with richly presented case studies this volume fills a gap in our understanding of the forces that lead to moderation and constructive engagement in the context of violent intrastate conflicts this volume will be of great interest to students of conflict management peace studies conflict resolution ethnic conflict and security studies in general this book makes a unique contribution to the renewed debate about empire and imperialism and will be of great interest to all those concerned with understanding the historical antecedents and wider implications of today s emergent liberal interventionism and the various logics of international development this collection explores the similarities differences and overlaps between the contemporary debates on international development and humanitarian intervention and the historical artefacts and strategies of empire it includes views by historians and students of politics and development drawing on a range of methodologies and approaches the parallels between the language of nineteenth century liberal imperialism and the humanitarian interventionism of the post cold war era are striking the american military both in somalia in the early 1990s and in the aftermath the iraq invasion used ethnographic information compiled by british colonial administrators are these interconnections which are capable of endless multiplication accidental curiosities or more elemental the contributors to this book articulate the belief that these comparisons are not just anecdotal but are analytically revealing from the language of moral necessity and conviction the design of specific aid packages the devised forms of intervention and governmentality through to the life style design and location of ngo encampments the authors seek to account for the numerous and often striking parallels between contemporary international security development and humanitarian intervention and the logic of empire mark duffield is professor of development politics at the university of bristol vernon hewitt is senior lecturer in politics at the university of bristol southern africa south africa botswana lesotho swaziland zimbabwe and namibia hsrc press
