in the politics of experience and the visionary bird of paradise r d laing shows how the straitjacket of conformity imposed on us all leads to intense feelings of alienation and a tragic waste of human potential he throws into question the notion of normality examines schizophrenia and psychotherapy transcendence and us and them thinking and illustrates his ideas with a remarkable case history of a ten day psychosis we are bemused and crazed creatures laing suggests this outline of a thoroughly self conscious and self critical human account of man represents a major attempt to understand our deepest dilemmas and sketch in solutions everyone in contemporary psychiatry owes something to r d laing anthony clare the guardian

r d laing is at his most wickedly iconoclastic in this eloquent assault on conventional morality unorthodox to some brilliantly original to others the politics of experience goes beyond the usual theories of mental illness and alienation and makes a convincing case for the madness of morality compelling unsettling consistently absorbing the politics of experience is a classic of genuine importance that will excite enthrall and disturb no one who reads it will remain unaffected rollo may saturday review this book develops a new theoretical framework for the study of security issues and applies this to the case of health building on the work of the welsh school of security studies and drawing on contributions from the wider critical security literature the book provides an emancipatory perspective on the health security nexus one which simultaneously teases out its underlying political assumptions assesses its political effects and identifies potential for transformation security emancipation and the politics of health challenges conventional wisdom in the field of health and international politics by conceiving of health as a fundamentally political issue and not merely as a medical problem demanding technical solutions and arrangements the book shows how political processes of representation underpin notions of health and disease through an examination of three key areas the linkages between immigration and the fear of disease colonial medicine and the health as a bridge for peace literature in order to successfully carry out this political investigation of health the book develops an innovative theoretical framework inspired by the idea of security as emancipation which goes beyond the existing emancipatory literature in security studies this book will be of much interest to students of critical security studies health politics sociology and ir in general
