after multiculturalism the discourse on race and the dialectics of liberty provides a unique critique of multiculturalist thought in social theory and public policy from an individualist perspective contemporary academic and policy discourse on race and racism in the united states is dominated by collectivist social theories that are founded on the idea that the only meaningful challenges to racism are those that foster collective social identities and seek to influence and direct the use of state power in the interest of particular racial and ethnic groups multiculturalism is the prevailing incarnation of anti racist thought that informs and mediates political process and organizational life in the united states the multicultural discourse on race has become tribalist anti western anti market and statist after multiculturalism challenges the notion that collectivist and statist ideologies own racism as an educational and public policy issue
