in this accessible narrative louw effectively tells the story of 20th century south africa by examining three political periods british hegemony 1900-1948 the afrikaner nationalist period 1948-1993 and the post 1994
black nationalist period he argues that apartheid was premised upon the notion of political partition and not white supremacy apartheid was a political strategy constructed by the ethnic minority in order to prevent them from becoming politically powerless unfortunately the partition plan failed causing an era of pain for south africa with apartheid now formally over louw presents a comprehensive overview of this important 20th century phenomenon topics covered include the roots and causes of apartheid what was apartheid the struggle against apartheid why did afrikaner nationalists negotiate their own demise in the 1990s and the impact of apartheid in contemporary south africa in the pitfalls of liberal democracy and late nationalism in south africa mueni wa muiu compares african and afrikaner nationalisms to demonstrate that the transition from apartheid to liberal democracy in south africa was a neo colonial settlement that left the economy and the military security sector under the control of the white minority while increasing wide socio economic disparities between rich and poor men and women this book is designed to help bring about the desired transition to liberal democracy in south africa particularly as the deliberations about a permanent constitution get under way there is a general consensus in the scholarly literature that the post colonial state in africa has failed some states liberia rwanda sierra leone somalia have collapsed various arguments have been proffered to explain this dynamics of african state failure and collapse however the literature on state reconstitution is inchoate and minimal this edited volume focuses on prescriptions for reconstituting the post colonial state in africa essays on nine african states burundi the democratic republic of the congo ethiopia kenya nigeria sierra leone somalia south africa and uganda are preceded by an introduction to the political economy of the african state in 1997 indonesian human rights activist galuh wandita co founded the east timorese women s communication forum fokupers to resist indonesia s occupation of timor leste the non governmental organization ngo called for an end to the violence counseled women survivors of conflict related violence facilitated visits for international monitors mobilized support for an independence referendum and advised the united nations transitional administration on gender policy fokupers also lobbied for and helped implement a variety of transitional justice tj initiatives including the commission for reception truth and reconciliation cavr established in 2001 provided by publisher this book explores the challenge of dismantling colonial schooling and how entangled power relations of the past have lingered in post apartheid south africa it examines the on the ground history of colonialism from the vantage point of a small town in the karoo region showing how patterns of possession and dispossession have played out in the municipality and schools using the strong political and ontological critique of decoloniality theories the book demonstrates the ways in which government interventions over many years have allowed colonial relations and the construction of racialised differences to linger in new forms including unequal access to schooling written in an accessible style the book considers how the dream of decolonial schooling might be realised from the vantage point of research on the margins this karoo region also offers an interesting case study as the site where the world s largest radio telescope was recently located and highlights the contrasting logics of international big science and local development needs this book will be of interest to academics and scholars in the education field as well as to social geographers sociologists human geographers historians and policy makers chapters 1 and 10 of this book are freely available as downloadable open access pdfs at taylorfrancis com under a creative commons attribution non commercial no derivatives cc by nc nd 4 0 license the state of the state breaks new ground by exploring political and socio economic issues about the nature of the south african state from the 1990s through the early 21st century picard argues that the structural legacies of the apartheid state embedded in governmental planning bureaucratic and educational systems have a continuing impact on the new democratic government in south africa the author argues that political and bureaucratic institutions are both important and limiting this book will appeal to a wide readership ranging from students of history politics and policy at undergraduate and postgraduate level to professionals studying public administration and management it should also appeal to practitioners in the field and to people interested more broadly in the history of the state in south africa and the nature of the transition which took place in the 1990s book jacket
