the final volume of singer s trilogy discusses ideas about love in the work of writers ranging from kierkegaard nietzsche and tolstoy to freud proust d h lawrence shaw and others in the contemporary world irving singer s trilogy the nature of love has been called majestic new york times book review monumental boston globe one of the major works of philosophy in our century nous wise and magisterial times literary supplement and a masterpiece of critical thinking that is a timely eloquent and scrupulous account of what after all still makes the world go round christian science monitor in the third volume singer examines the pervasive dialectic between optimistic idealism and pessimistic realism in modern thinking about the nature of love he begins by discussing anti romantic romantics focusing on kierkegaard nietzsche and tolstoy influential nineteenth century thinkers whose views illustrate much of the ambiguity and self contradiction that permeate thinking about love in the last hundred years he offers detailed studies of freud proust shaw d h lawrence and santayana and he maps the ideas about love in continental existentialism particularly those of sartre and de beauvoir singer finally envisages a future of cooperation between pluralistic humanists and empirical scientists this last volume of singer s trilogy does not pretend to offer the final word on the subject any more than do most of the philosophers he discusses but his masterful work can take its place beside their earlier investigations into these vast and complex questions
