this book attempts to correct the impression created by western media that sub saharan africa is in a state of anarchy the text analyzes and shows that while many sub saharan african nations are experiencing the worst time of their history others are enjoying their best times thus the text argues that although some parts of africa are experiencing crisis the continent is also a fine region of major new experiments in governance peace building and free market transformation programs finally the text focuses some of its analyses on the colonial legacy economic and ethnic transformation indigenous institutions and other forces that seem to influence the governance of sub saharan african nations the main thrust of this study is that throughout the process of partition african nations tried hard to check the tidal wave of european assault what served as the decisive factor in these encounters were the superiority of europeans weapons in addition to such factors as fraudulent treaties of friendship the role of missionaries and traders divide and conquer strategies and direct military interventions from a general perspective this dissertation seeks to expand through the study of benin and ghana the existing knowledge on u s program of cultural relations in doing so it attempts to examine how states and individuals experience a policy globally conceived and regionally applied it notices that u s program targeted mainly the heart and mind of the elite of these countries in order to raise its soft power and that u s cultural policy was foremost conditioned politically by the ideological inclination of the beneficiaries of american assistance analyzing the reports of some participants in exchange programs from benin and ghana and the how jazz artists view the jazz program it notices how discrepancies existed between the expectations and objective of the government and the personal experience of individuals agents in most of the programs despite this gap this dissertation notes that all is all the above mentioned activities of cultural exchange contributed to presenting some facets of american culture and institutions and touched the lives of many africans in rural areas however as many of these programs were influenced by the cold war this dissertation ends with an interrogation about the future of u s soft power in africa contemporary africa edited by toyin falola captures the challenges optimism and problems that face modern africa notably those of economic underdevelopment and political instability african countries seek various answers and they have recorded varying degrees of success as they attempt to unite their peoples to build strong nations develop their economies and stabilize their politics failures have equally been recorded in a number of places although these have not prevented the search for new solutions nor dampened the enthusiasm of africans in liberating themselves from poverty among the leading issues that the volume pays attention to are the achievements of independence the colonial legacy africa s place in global affairs economic development political instability and the challenges of renewal in the 21st century this is the fifth volume in a series of textbooks entitled africa contributors to the volumes are african studies teachers from a variety of schools and settings writing from their individual areas of expertise these authors work together to break stereotypes about africa focusing instead on the substantive issues of the african past from the perspectives of africans themselves the organization of the books is flexible enough to suit the needs of any instructor and the texts include illustrations maps and timelines to make cultural and historical movements clearer suggestions for further reading that will help students broaden their own interests are also included africa challenges the accepted ways of studying africa and encourages students who are eager to learn about the diversity of the african experience
