this book analyzes united nations un interventions in the process of constitution making in states undergoing political change it combines theoretical considerations of democracy and constitutionalism with empirical experiences and takes a critical perspective on the interventions developed by the United Nations in the processes of re-democratization presenting new empirical evidence on the substantive and procedural way in which the UN undertakes constitution building in Cambodia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Afghanistan and East Timor. The book illustrates difficulties of these practices such as the promotion of popular participation as well as an increasing westernization and to meet local needs. In consequence, the authors call for reforms of the actions and structural methods the UN to better align a legitimate constitutional order with the rule of law and democratic values. Contrary to the common belief that peace and democracy go hand in hand after a civil war, Pereira Watts argues they are in fact at a crossroads offering an innovative framework based on philosophical actors and tactical considerations. Pereira Watts identifies 14 dynamic dilemmas in democratic peacebuilding with respective trade-offs. She focuses on explaining the contradictions in modern post-conflict recovery, the challenges facing interim governments and the international community's role based on an analysis of more than 40 countries between 1989 and 2022 and more than 60 UN peace operations. She presents critical issues that commonly need to be addressed in such scenarios: elections and political parties, the constitution, checks and balances, and power sharing, transitional justice, human rights, amnesty, truth commissions and war crimes tribunals, disarmament, demobilization and reintegration, and media reform and civil society. Solving any of these dilemmas leads to others that shape a complex apparatus for restoring peace and installing a new political regime. An essential resource for decision makers, policymakers, international analysts and practitioners in the field of peacebuilding that will also be of great value to students of international relations and peace studies as well as anyone interested in peacekeeping, democracy building and state building.

The study of law is a branch of the study of politics even those who emphasize the autonomy of law either sociologically or normatively must acknowledge that this is a position that requires justification within a broader theory of politics that either explains or justifies this autonomy. Inevitably, therefore, developments in political life and in political philosophy have a significant effect on the practice of law and its theoretical study. Currently, this relationship is evident in the impact of recent developments in the practice and theory of democracy that are redolent with implications for law and legal theory. This collection represents the body of captivating literature that is engaged not only with current developments in law and politics but also with the rediscovery of traditional theories. It offers a way into an engaging and important debate that bears of the most fundamental issues within both legal and political theory.
