going beyond the process of adaptation geraghty is more interested in the films themselves and how they draw on our sense of recall while a film reflects its literary source it also invites comparisons to our memories and associations with other versions of the original for example a viewer may watch the 2005 big screen production of pride and prejudice and remember austen s novel as well as the bbc s 1995 television movie adaptations also rely on the conventions of genre editing acting and sound to engage our recall elements that many movie critics tend to forget when focusing solely on faithfulness to the written word authoring a film adaptation of a literary source not only requires a media conversion but also a transformation as a result of the differing dramatic demands of cinema the most critical central step in this transformation of a literary source to the screen is the writing of the screenplay the screenplay usually serves to recruit producers director and actors to attract capital investment and to give focus to the conception and production of the film project often undergoing multiple revisions prior to production the screenplay represents the crucial decisions of writer and director that will determine how and to what end the film will imitate or depart from its original source authorship in film adaptation is an accessible provocative text that opens up new areas of discussion on the central process of adaptation surrounding the screenplay and screenwriter director collaboration in contrast to narrow binary comparisons of literary source text and film the twelve essays in this collection also give attention to the underappreciated role of the screenplay and film pre production that can signal the primary intention for a film divided into four parts this collection looks first at the role of hollywood s activist producers and major auteurs such as hitchcock and kubrick as they worked with screenwriters to formulate their audio visual goals the second part offers case studies of devil in a blue dress and the sweet hereafter for which the directors wrote their own adapted screenplays considering the variety of writer director working relationships that are possible part iii focuses on adaptations that alter genre time and place and part iv investigates adaptations that alter stories of romance sexuality and ethnicity literature and film is a cornucopia of vibrant essays that chart the history and confluence of literature and film it explores in detail a wide and international spectrum of novels and adaptations bringing together the very latest scholarship in the field the volume takes as its starting point the assumption that adapters cannot simply transpose or transfer one particular text from one medium to another they must interpret re work and re imagine the precursor text in order to choose the various meanings and sensations they find most compelling or most cost effective then they create scenes characters plot elements etc that match their interpretation these very relationships are the subject matter this collection seeks to explore poststructural theory is an ideal place to begin a rigorous and theoretically sound investigation of adaptation as adaptation studies adopts a poststructuralist lens and defines this richer notion of intertextuality some of its key assumptions will change adaptation scholars will recognize that all film adaptations are intertextual by definition multivocal by necessity and adaptive by their nature novels into film offers a unique look at how a story makes its way from the printed page to the screen a companion to literature in film provides state of the art research on world literature film and the complex theoretical relationship between them 25 essays by international experts cover the most important topics in the study of literature and film adaptations covers a wide variety of topics including cultural thematic theoretical and genre issues discusses film adaptations from the birth of cinema to the present day explores a diverse range of titles and genres including film noir biblical epics and italian and chinese cinema adaptations considers the theoretical and practical difficulties surrounding the translation of a text into film and the reverse process the novelisation of films through three sets of case studies the contributors examine the key debates surrounding adaptations whether screen versions of literary classics can be faithful to the text if something as capsulated as jane austens irony can even be captured on film whether costume dramas always of their own time and do adaptations remake their parent text to reflect contemporary ideas and concerns tracing the complex alterations which texts experience between different media adaptations is a unique exploration of the relationship between text and film
