when canadian authors win prestigious literary prizes from the governor general's literary award to the man Booker prize they are celebrated not only for their achievements but also for contributing to this country's cultural capital. discussions about culture, national identity and citizenship are particularly complicated when the honorees are immigrants like Michael Ondaatje, Carol Shields or Rohinton Mistry. Then there is the case of Yann Martel who is identified both as Canadian and as rootlessly cosmopolitan. How have these writers' identities been recalibrated in order to claim them as representative Canadians? Prizing Literature is the first extended study of contemporary award-winning Canadian literature and the ways in which we celebrate its authors. Gillian Roberts uses theories of hospitality to examine how prize-winning authors are variously received and honoured depending on their citizenship and the extent to which they represent Canadianness. Prizing Literature sheds light on popular and media understandings of what it means to be part of a multicultural nation.

Now celebrating its 16th year, this eclectic anthology has become an established literary tradition. Each year more than 150 contributing editors, people such as Joyce Carol Oates and Edward Hirsch, nominate the best short stories, poems and essays from hundreds of small presses and magazines for inclusion in this anthology.

includes critical reviews

The most honored literary series in America begins its third decade of continuous publication. Reviewing last year's edition of the Pushcart Prize Booklist, commented: "If you buy one best-of anthology this year, make it the Pushcart Prize." The Chicago Tribune recently raved: "When it comes to contemporary American literature, the small press is where the action is." Of all anthologies, Pushcart's is the most rewarding to read straight through. In Pushcart Prize XXI, over sixty selections of short stories, essays and poetry have been picked from thousands of nominations by Pushcart Press staff, contributing editors and hundreds of small presses. This year Patricia Strachan and William Matthews served as poetry editors. The result is an introduction to a literary world that few readers have access to, where much of today's important new writing is published far from the commercial influence of the conglomerates. The Pushcart Prize has been chosen for two Book of the Month Club QPBC selections, named many times as an outstanding book of the year by the New York Times Book Review and honored with Publishers Weekly's Carey Thomas Award.

For over a decade, the Journey Prize anthology has been the premier showcase for Canada's finest up-and-coming literary voices. In this eleventh edition, the anthology continues its tradition of presenting the best of Canada's new writers. Among the twelve stories: over the course of a long hot summer, with her invalid grandmother and a free-spirited babysitter, a young girl becomes increasingly aware of the complexities and ambiguities that lie on the other side of childhood; in a wistful tale about the enduring strength of family ties, a young Eskimo boy is determined to take on the responsibility of finding a new home for his infant brother; the sudden and unexpected death of his father prompts a man to embark on a meditative journey through his own peripatetic life; the pretensions and hypocrisies of a small town are comically brought to the surface during a Sunday Mass; after a fateful encounter, a defiant teenage girl and a solitary backwoodsman forge an uneasy life together amidst the wilderness of the Yukon; the progress of a married man's seduction by a student is coolly observed by his wife in a moving exploration of the power of memory and the devastating effects of Alzheimer's; a woman tends to her now elderly foster
