at the beginning of the twenty first century countries in the middle east and north africa contend with the threats and opportunities of economic globalization the driving force of change in the contemporary world as the authors confirm in their straightforward and at times irreverent analysis of the regions response to these challenges it is globalization which is the key to an understanding of economic reform through an investigation of the structures of state and civil society including financial systems they also demonstrate that there is a direct correlation between economic performance and democratization in other words the more liberal the polity the more effective is its economy in responding to globalization with its interesting and incisive approach to the politics and economics of the middle east and north africa this will be an essential purchase for students and policy makers and anyone trying to come to grips with economic globalization generally coming from a broad cross section of academic disciplines and theoretical positions this collection of essays questions and reworks marxist critiques of capitalism that center on the west and which posit a uniform model of development more specifically taking its cue from mark nation s regret that john howard yoder refrained from a fuller engagement with the western philosophical tradition this book is an effort to explore the possibilities inherent in that conversation it develops a dialogue between yoder and the french philosopher emmanuel levinas the placement of yoder s work alongside of levinas conception of otherness cashes out the embedded hope in nation s remarks by demonstrating the continuing relevancy of yoder s thought for current christian sociopolitical discourse this book is especially aimed at those who seek to continue
