this book is the tenth story in the true tales of a traveller series and is set in thailand and the netherlands in the mid 1980s this is the story of an ambitious travel plan undertaken by three friends living and working in rotterdam to start new lives in australia thailand was intended to be little more than a stopover along the way the plan was thwarted by the kind of seasoned tricksters who prey on tourists everywhere in the world where the volume of foreign visitors makes it worthwhile to devise schemes to relieve them of their finances at least one of the schemes detailed in this story was still in widespread use at the time of this story's publication though perhaps in a slightly modified form this true account serves as a reference and a warning and is just as valid for travellers who have been on the road for years as it is for those setting off overseas for the first time for me a traveller who at the time had already clocked up four years experience of living working and travelling abroad falling for this scam came as a devastating blow not only to my travel plans but to my self esteem the only consolation was that i met other travellers who had fallen for the same trick and others like it and yet i had to admit i fell for it hook line and sinker a collection of anecdotes for each day of the year on the subject of travel and exploration from charles darwin michael palin evelyn waugh and others with an emphasis on the period 1750 1950 the classic era of both european exploration and diary writing this anthology features excerpts that convey men and women's experiences of travel and discovery from the sixteenth to the early twenty first centuries the authors of the pieces range from famous explorers such as captains cook and scott to modern travel writers journeying through the contemporary world from people who pushed back the boundaries of geographical knowledge to people who wrote about what they did on their summer holidays the book includes an introduction explanatory notes and mini biographies of all the contributors including gertrude bell woman traveller in the middle east james boswell travels in scotland and the hebrides william cobbett rural rides through england christopher columbus journals of his voyages to america charles darwin voyage of the beagle captain james cook voyages in the pacific washington irving american writer travelled in europe in first decades of nineteenth century edward lear landscape painter and nonsense writer produced journals of his travels in greece corsica near east etc lewis clark journals of famous journey of american exploration william morris wrote a journal of a trip to iceland in 1870s michael palin a python abroad mungo park african explorer in early nineteenth century captain robert falcon scott doomed journey to south pole evelyn waugh diaries of 1930s travels in mediterranean and beyond william john wills explorer of australia
