the battle lines have been drawn is the enemy winning thanks to the theory of evolution writes best selling author john macarthur naturalism is now the dominant religion of modern society less than a century and a half ago charles darwin popularized the credo for this secular religion naturalism has now replaced christianity as the main religion of the western world and evolution has become its principal dogma many christians who claim to believe that the bible is god's revealed truth seem willing to allow modern scientific theories to replace the genesis account of creation such compromises present a conspicuous danger bible teacher and pastor john macarthur believes that in genesis 1 3 we find the foundation of every doctrine that is essential to the christian faith the vital underpinnings for everything we believe the battle for the beginning draws a clear line on today s theological landscape everything in scripture that teaches about sin and redemption assumes the literal truth of the first three chapters of genesis if we wobble to any degree on the truth of this passage john macarthur insists we undermind the very foundations of our faith distinguished scholar matthew levering examines the doctrine of creation and its contemporary theological implications critically engaging with classical and modern views in dialogue with orthodox and reformed interlocutors among others moving from the trinity to christology levering takes up a number of themes pertaining to the doctrine of creation and focuses on how creation impacts our understandings of both the immanent and the economic trinity he also engages newer trends such as ecological theology what does it mean to both affirm the goodness of god s creation and anticipate the new creation bringing together contributions from church leaders academic theologians and scientists on the doctrine of creation this volume engages with scripture scientific theory church history and current issues to help christians understand the beginning and ending of god s good creation if we pick up the bible as god s word and at the beginning read with trepidation then the whole of the bible is so read this book was written to help christians navigate some of the forces of modernity which have crept into the church and influenced the way christians view the reliability of the biblical creation account and more generally the bible its purpose is to encourage readers to see the steadfastness of god s word as a way of making sense of our lives and the world we live in it hopes to show that a faith based historical reading of gen 1 3 provides a more trustworthy explanation of reality than atheistic evolutionary theories or reading the genesis story as a make believe myth but the book is not a polemic per se it proposes a faith based historical reading of the creation story in hopes of learning more about god creation and ourselves in this well written and concise volume gregory cootsona explores the doctrines of creation and eschatology the end of days in light of contemporary science he addresses what the relationship is between creation in the beginning and the new creation at the end of time how the doctrine of creation informs our lives as christians and how we grow in faith and love in light of these doctrines the foundations of christian faith series enables readers to learn about contemporary theology in ways that are clear enjoyable and meaningful it examines the doctrines of the christian faith and stimulates readers not only to think more deeply about their faith but also to understand it in relation to contemporary challenges and questions individuals and study groups alike will find these guides invaluable in their search for depth and integrity in their christian faith solid biblical and scientific evidence that god created the universe in six twenty four hour days about 6 000 years ago in view of the critical environmental problems confronting the modern world reflection on the nature and meaning of the world and on humanity's place in it becomes increasingly important while christian theology has done this for centuries the present situation calls for a serious rethinking of many issues in the light of contemporary physics biology and cultural history the gift of being presents insights of the sciences in a way that is helpful for christians today creation theology helps believers come to a stronger sense of their own identity as they come to an awareness of the world this enables them to gain a deeper insight into how they ought to relate to that world if they wish to find meaning in their lives this state of being requires a willingness to distinguish between the medium and the message in approaching the scriptures it also requires a willingness to take the sciences seriously in the gift of being hayes focuses on traditional questions of creation but also comments on where science is with creation anthropology and destiny he begins by discussing the relation between faith and reason and hence between theology and science from a historical perspective moving to the most current statements of modern popes he follows with a summary statement of the possible retrieval of the biblical religious insights that can be distinguished from the physical worldview that stands behind much of the biblical material this allows for a discussion of the traditional concept of creation from nothing in the form of a conversation with contemporary physics he then discusses the christian idea of god as the primal mystery of creative love from whom all of creation flows with these foundational ideas in place hayes looks at such questions as the origin of humanity and the failure of humanity throughout history he then focuses on the tradition of cosmic christology finally the theological issues of the final outcome of god's creation and its history is discussed against the background of the current scientific projections of a future for the cosmos chapters are science the bible and christianity the vision of the hebrew scriptures creation and the christian scriptures creation from nothing the triune god the creator humanity in the cosmic context sin and evil christ and the cosmos and creation and the future zachary hayes ofm phd 1932 2014 was a professor of systematic theology at catholic theological union he taught and wrote extensively on matters related to the theological understanding of creation and the relation between theology and science he was on the staff of the chicago center for religion and science he was the author of visions of a future a study of christian eschatology from the new theology studies series published by the liturgical press contrasts two different views of the origin of life biblical creation and evolution weaving pneumatological teleological eschatological anthropological and ecological strands into christology gunton draws from and interacts with a wide range of theologians from ancient to modern to weave together a strong incarnation creation link and the doctrine of the holy spirit do you dismiss the existence of god because of the popular attitude ridiculing the creation story and the garden of eden story in the bible claiming there is no basis in science for it to be true author ruth anne carpenter takes on a new approach to the age old mystery of creation in and god said a study of creation and the garden of eden she skillfully incorporates the science behind god s creation of the earth the land the waters the vegetation the animals the moon the sun and finally man and woman to show readers that science and christianity can in fact coexist carpenter then outlines the remaining individual verses of these prophecies exploring the meaning and impact of the first marriage between adam and eve and their eventual banishment from the garden of eden after succumbing to the power of satan and partaking of the forbidden fruit from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil ruth anne carpenter has written an enlightening study of creation that reconciles scientific studies with spiritual truth it will encourage you to investigate into your own soul and explore your own faith more fully ruth anne carpenter lives in newport news virginia with her husband of thirty three years she has embraced her faith and has studied the bible her whole life can the biblical account of creation be reconciled with current scientific beliefs for over a century the holy bible s story of creation has come under considerable scrutiny and derision by the scientific community the length of creation days the biblical order of creation and man s origin have all been the subjects of heated debates debates that cast further doubts on biblical accuracy but is such derision warranted the theory of creation boldly answers that very question rather than denounce other theories or repudiate accepted scientific beliefs this is a comprehensive and objective analysis of the first story of the bible genesis 1 1 2 4 each verse is carefully examined for its scientific meaning the original hebrew text is often referenced popular theories are explored and the purpose and implications of god s actions are addressed finally the biblical account of creation is compared to the scientific record in this era of moral relativism when biblical values are condemned and the sanctity of the holy bible is often ridiculed validation of the creation story would be a source of inspiration for believers everywhere in the theory of creation jim schicatano answers the enduring questions of science and resolves the biblical creation debate in keeping with the scriptural witness and the theological heritage creation and new creation examines the doctrine of creation alongside new creation the connection between the two creation and new creation has drawn renewed attention in the last several decades but the burden of sean mcdonough s argument is that this emphasis on creation and new creation has been a feature of the doctrine since the beginning whether in the eschatological reading of genesis 1 that predominated at least until early modern times or the intertwining of the narratives of creation and redemption in thinkers from early church father irenaeus to modern theologian karl barth while covering the traditional elements of the doctrine mcdonough treats this important subject with a special emphasis on how these unfold in the story of what colin gunton has called god s creation project this study by leading scholars from around the world engages with central hermeneutical philosophical and theological dimensions of the doctrine of creation particular prominence is given to discussion of creation out of nothing m the relation of eternal creator to temporal creation the trinitarian construction of the doctrine and its ethical implications the essays comprise robert jenson on the doctrine of creation paul helm on eternal creation colin gunton on genesis and on the reformers alan torrance on spatio temporal dimensions daniel hardy on creation and eschatology brian horne on divine and human creativity christoph schwobel on god creation and the christian community these expert contributions open up new dimensions to an important topic currently receiving renewed attention
