by examining mauritius and the indian ocean this unique synthesis of imperial and naval military history reveals the depths of colonial involvement in the second world war and the role of colonies in british strategic planning from the eighteenth century in the century of total war the british empire was fully mobilized the mauritian home front became regimented troops were recruited for service overseas the eastern fleet guarded the indian ocean and mauritius became a base for soe operations and intelligence gathering for bletchley how did and does the fate of refugees unfold in internment camps the contributors to this book facilitate an extensive engagement with the organized state led and forced placement of refugees in the past and present they show the parallels and differences between the practices and types of internment in different countries while considering the specific historical contexts moreover they highlight the nexus of relationships and agencies which constitute the camps in question as transitory spaces the contributions consist of analyses of local phenomena or case studies as well as comparative engagements from an international and or historical perspective the field of contemporary holocaust studies is increasingly international in perspective these approaches do not detach themselves from european history rather they incorporate perspectives and voices not always considered in more traditional holocaust studies the contributors to this volume take such an approach as they examine the holocaust adding to the historical and memorial reach of the subject through an international range of voices global approaches to the holocaust asks what happens when scholars shift their focus from an exclusively european perspective of the holocaust what new insights are gained from exploring the impact of the holocaust from outside the european milieu how do countries that were not directly affected by nazi policies of occupation and extermination remember the holocaust what does an expansive approach to the holocaust entail with essays about north and south africa mauritius japan argentina mexico chile the philippines the united states australia canada india pakistan palestine colombia new zealand and more global approaches to the holocaust seeks to create a critical voice in holocaust studies that encompasses not only europe but also asia africa south and north america australia and the middle east european holocaust studies ehs publishes key international research results on the murder of the european jews and its wider contexts in recent years scholars have rediscovered hannah arendt s boomerang thesis the coming home of european colonialism as genocide on european soil as well as raphael lemkin s work around his definition of genocide and the importance of its colonial dimensions germany and other european states are increasingly engaging in debates on comparing the holocaust to other genocides and cases of mass killing memorialization decolonization and attempts to come to terms with the past vergangenheitsbewältigung in 1940 thousands of jews were trying to flee nazi persecution in europe this is the little known story of a group of 1 600 jewish refugees who having escaped from nazi occupied europe were refused entry into palestine by the british in 1940 because they were considered illegal immigrants their deportation after landing in the promised land eretz israel was unique as a deterrent to others they were deported to mauritius a remote island in the indian ocean they were detained in a mauritian prison until the end of the war and were deprived of all basic human rights even that of family life this story sheds light on the british government s lack of understanding of the critical problem facing jewish refugees at that time book jacket title summary field provided by blackwell north america inc all rights reserved
