for you o lord will bless the righteous with favor you will surround him as with a shield in joseph we recognize the elements of a noble character piety pure and high morality simplicity gentleness fidelity patience perseverance an iron will and indomitable energy he was also a man of enduring faithfulness in the midst of hardship and strong opposition after being released from slavery he proved himself to be a wise administrator a loving and forgiving brother and a devoted son above all in adversity he showed himself to be a man of god with a steadfast dependence upon the lord and a faith in the covenant that the lord had made with abraham isaac and jacob though separated from his family joseph remained steadfast in his loyalty to his god how difficult were these days as a slave and prisoner in jail can perhaps be gauged by amos statement when he wrote of the affliction of joseph later however when he was raised to the second highest position in egypt we learn something of the blessings with which god rewarded joseph for his righteousness the lord blessed him and joseph s life continues to supply hope and encouragement to sorely tried believers down through the ages joseph s own summary of the vicissitudes that his brothers thrust upon him when they sold him into slavery is found in his well known statement you meant it for evil but god meant it for good all scripture is inspired by god and profitable for teaching for reproof for correction for training in righteousness so that the man of god may be adequate equipped for every good work 2 timothy 3 16 17 in his remarkably perceptive book entitled the life and times of the patriarchs william h thomson md lld son of william m thomson author of the land and the book draws our attention to the fact that the story of the life of jacob and of his family occupies more than half of the book of genesis he continued this is no more than it should considering how full that story is of instruction thus abraham isaac and jacob are repeatedly named together but jacob differed more from his father and grandfather than men usually differ from each other every human being grows up in an environment which inevitably reacts upon his personality so true is this that the experience of each life has its own lesson in jacob s case we see how one experience after another was needed for jacob to become the prevailing prince with god isaac s unreasoning partiality toward esau was no justification for the wicked imposition practiced on him by his wife whereby jacob secured the birthright this resulted in jacob being sent to his mother s brother in order to escape the wrath of esau but instead of departing on his long journey laden with gifts his going had to be in secret he returned many years later to face new challenges and one by one god took pains to remove from his life the things that were impediments to his spiritual growth how the lord did this is the subject of this book o how happy are those whose way is blameless who walk in the law of the lord o how happy are those who observe his testimonies who seek him with all their heart psalm 119 1 2
