this work studies three twenty first century novels by richard powers dave eggers and don delillo as representative of a new trend of us fiction concerned with the topic of the technological augmentation of the human condition the different chapters provide from the double perspective of the optimistic transhumanist philosophy and the more balanced approach of critical posthumanism an overview of the narrative strategies used by the writers to explore the possibilities that biotechnology digital technologies and cryonics open up to transcend our human limitations while also warning their readers of their most nefarious consequences ultimately the book puts forward the claim that even if the writers approach the subject from a variety of perspectives and using different narrative styles and techniques they all share a critical posthumanist fear that an unrestrained and unquestioned use of technology for enhancement purposes may bring about disembodiment and

spider labyrinth tightrope walk explores the shifting functions of the network as a metaphor model and as an epistemological framework in us american literature and culture from the 19th century until today the book critically inquires into the literary cultural philosophical and scientific rhetoric values and ideological underpinnings that have given rise to the network concept literature and culture play a major role in the ways in which networks have been imagined and how they have evolved as conceptual models this study regards networks as historically emergent and culturally constructed formations closely tied with the development of knowledge technologies in the process of modernization as well as with an increasingly critical awareness of network technologies and infrastructures while the rise of the network in scientific philosophical political and sociological discourses has received wide attention this book contributes an important cultural and historical perspective to network theory by demonstrating how us american literature and culture have been key sites for thinking in and about networks in the past two centuries
