dear seeker of the stars these 410 sutras are whispers from the silent spaces where planets nakshatras and karma meet they were not gathered from any one book or master but woven like a secret garland from the timeless soil of ancient knowing and the gentle echoes of my own searching heart each line is a doorway not to predict your life like a prisoner of fate but to remind you that every chart is a mirror every planet a teacher every moment an opportunity to rewrite old codes you may find some sutras soothing others unsettling let them be the truths that disturb us are often the ones we came here to remember if a single verse cleanses a fear untangles a knot or lights a lamp in your hidden corridors then these pages have done their secret work do not hold these secrets too tightly astrology is not a cage but a key and the stars themselves are not masters but friends on your endless journey back to your own light may these sutras travel far and wide yet may they remain hidden in the only place that truly matters your awakened unchained heart with reverence for your path saket shah keeper of the silent stars the lotus sutra has been the most widely read and most revered buddhist scripture in east asia since its translation in the third century the miracles and parables in the king of sutras inspired a variety of images in china in particular the sweeping compositions known as transformation tableaux that developed between the seventh and ninth centuries surviving examples in murals painted on cave walls or carved in relief on buddhist monuments depict celestial journeys bodily metamorphoses cycles of rebirth and the achievement of nirvana yet the cosmos revealed in these tableaux is strikingly different from that found in the text of the sutra shaping the lotus sutra explores this visual world challenging long held assumptions about buddhist art eugene wang treats it as a window to an animated and spirited world rather than focus on individual murals as isolated compositions wang views the entire body of pictures adorning a cave shrine or a pagoda as a visual mapping of an imaginary topography that encompasses different temporal and spatial domains he demonstrates that the text of the lotus sutra does not fully explain the pictures and that a picture or a series of them constitutes its own text in exploring how religious pictures sublimate cultural aspirations he shows that they can serve both political and religious agendas and that different social forces can co exist within the same visual program these pictures inspired meditative journeys through sophisticated formal devices such as mirroring mapping and spatial programming analytical categories newly identified by wang the book examines murals in cave shrines at binglingsi and dunhuang in northwestern china and relief sculptures in the grottoes of yungang in shanxi on stelae from sichuan and on the dragon and tiger pagoda in shandong among other sites by tracing formal impulses in medieval chinese picture making such as topographic mapping and pictorial illusionism the author pieces together a wide range of visual evidence and textual sources to reconstruct the medieval chinese cognitive style and mental world the book is ultimately a history of the chinese imagination read an interview with the author dgeneratefilms com cinemataalk cinemataalk interview with professor eugene wang on chinese art and film pabongka rinpoche was one the twentieth century s most charismatic and revered tibetan lamas and in liberation in the palm of your hand we can see why in this famous twenty four day teaching on the lamrim or stages of the path pabongka rinpoche weaves together lively stories and quotations with frank observations and practical advice to move readers step by step along the journey to buddhahood when his student trijang rinpoche first edited and published these teachings in tibetan an instant classic was born the flavor and immediacy of the original tibetan are preserved in michael richards fluid and lively translation which is now substantially revised in this new edition contextualizing the sutra within a milieu of intense religious and cultural experimentation this volume unravels the sudden rise of diamond sutra devotion in the tang dynasty against the backdrop of a range of social political and literary activities through the translation and exploration of a substantial body of narratives extolling the efficacy of the sutra it explores the complex social history of lay buddhism by focusing on how the laity might have conceived of the sutra and devoted themselves to it corroborated by various sources it reveals the cult s effect on medieval chinese religiosity in the activities of an empowered laity who modified and produced parasutraic texts prompting the monastic establishment to accommodate to the changes they brought about
