the politics and aesthetics of refusal is an eclectic collection of essays from emerging academics who engage with the notion of "refusal" both as the embodiment of a resistance to conventional boundaries between academic disciplines and as a concept with an underlying negative or reactive force that can be widely interpreted and applied the applications of "refusal" outlined in this volume ranging from activism and the politics of cultural production through to problems of identity and knowledge classification raise questions about often elided relationships of agency and complicity in routine experience the sense of "refusal" that emerges from this book is perhaps most easily classified by what it is not namely a prescriptive conclusive or unified account of what it is to reject react or work against any particular instance of theory or practice in any given domain the value of a thematically oriented collection like this is its ability to work across disciplines media and philosophical frameworks rather than limiting its focus to a narrow territory according to herbert marcuse refusal must not only be the guiding principle for all artistic creation it must also be a manifestation of artistic creation itself with this volume we have attempted to compose a collection which is not only theoretically guided by refusal but practically informed by it as well the collection in itself constitutes we hope a constructive rejection of the usual constrictions of discipline and approach placed upon new scholars this rich collection of essays on the political aesthetic and ethical dimensions of that form of social action called refusal is an important contribution to our understanding of the tensions and contradictions of contemporary culture john frow professor of english literary studies at the university of melbourne in europe s ghost michael radu reveals that europe s identity crisis does not lie in past or present racism or in a variety of largely invented or anachronistic crimes but in the self inflicted renunciation of national traditions in favor of multiculturalism in fact most european elites see jihadism as nothing but a peculiar form of criminality due to the social and economic problems inside europe rather than what it is a peculiar form of warfare rooted in cultural developments imported from the muslim world the truth radu offers is that most muslims in most european countries see themselves as visitors rather than as citizens of europe thus the british media s outcry over the phenomenon of british born muslim terrorists murdering fellow britons is dangerously misplaced
