stories from outposts of the southern ocean the windiest roughest most isolated and most important ocean on the planet venture to the deep south and you will experience a world like no other forbidding subantarctic islands astounding sea creatures death defying plants the constant company of birds and if you travel far enough the towering ice cliffs and dead valleys of antarctica few people visit this remote and mysterious region but for some the lure is irresistible as an expedition guide matt vance has accompanied intrepid tourists and birders artists and writers in ocean notorious he gives a moving first person account of the lonely places where lives have been changed and history made from the obsessive explorers of the heroic era to solo sailors in tiny yachts marooned wartime coastwatchers and ruthless plunderers of wildlife to today's dreamers drifters and passionate preservationists in 1983 gerry clark set off from new zealand in a 10 metre wooden yacht to circumnavigate antarctica in a quest for new information about sea birds in this graphic account of the ensuing three year yoyage he describes his adventures in some of the remotest wildest

this book provides a modern synthetic overview of what is known about the structure functioning and interactions of marine and terrestrial systems at the prince edward islands building on more than 50 years of biological geological meteorological and oceanographic research it demonstrates not only how inextricably linked marine and terrestrial systems at the islands are but also how global environmental challenges such as climate change biological invasions and over exploitation are playing out at the regional and local levels in the southern ocean for as far back as he can remember dallas murphy has been sea struck since he began to read besotted by salt water dreams and nautical language he studied the lore surrounding a place of mythic proportions the ever alluring cape horn and after years of dreaming and sailing he finally made his voyage there in this lively thrilling blend of history geography and modern day adventure murphy shows how the myth crossed wakes with his reality cape horn is a buttressed pyramid of crumbly rock situated at the very bottom of south america 55 degrees 59 minutes south by 67 degrees 16 minutes west it s a place of forlorn and foreboding beauty one that has captured the dark imaginations of explorers and writers from francis drake to joseph conrad for centuries the small stretch of water between cape horn and the antarctic peninsula was the only gateway between the atlantic and pacific oceans and it s a place where the storms are bigger the winds stronger the seas rougher than anywhere else on earth rounding the horn is the ultimate maritime rite of passage and in murphy s hands it becomes a thrilling exuberant tour weaving together stories of his own nautical adventures with long lost tales of those who braved the cape before him from spanish missionaries to captain cook and interspersed with breathtaking descriptions of the surrounding wilderness the result is a beautifully crafted immensely enjoyable read after tough assignments as a canadian diplomat abroad nicholas coghlan and his wife jenny unwind by sailing bosun bird a 27foot sailboat from cape town south africa across the south atlantic and into the stormy winter waters around tierra del fuego south america coghlan recounts earlier adventures in patagonia when taking time off from his job as a schoolteacher in buenos aires in the late 1970s he and jenny explored the region of southern argentina and chile over three successive summers this time as they negotiate the labyrinth of channels and inlets around snow covered fireland he reflects on voyages of past explorers magellan cook darwin and others sailing enthusiasts and readers of true adventures will want to add coghlan s world wise narrative to their libraries
