this book aims to introduce the work of hellenistic jewish writers of the period 200 BC to AD 200 four in particular are studied the authors of the Letter of Aristeas and the Sibylline Oracles came from second century BC Egypt Eupolemus wrote probably in Jerusalem at the same time Josephus a priest from Judaea wrote in Rome in the late first century AD using Greek not Hebrew or Aramaic and conscious of the position of Jews in the Graeco Roman world they wished to demonstrate that their cultural and religious heritage stood comparison with the Graeco Roman tradition and that Jews were neither so philosophically naive nor so politically troublesome as they were often supposed to be an opening chapter describing the position of Jews in the hellenistic world is followed by selected passages all newly translated with introductory essays and commentary the collection makes available to students much material hitherto not easily accessible in this volume we try to understand the Mamluk empire not as a confined space but as a region where several nodes of different networks existed side by side and at the same time in our opinion these networks constitute to a great extent the core of the so called Mamluk society they form the basis of the social order following in part concepts refined in the new area studies recent reflections about the phenomenon of the empire state trajectories in today's global history and the spatial turn in modern historiography we intend to identify a number of physical and cognitive networks with one or more nodes in mamluk controlled territories in addition to this one of the most important analytical questions would be to define the role of these networks in mamluk society
