bringing together criticism on both african american and native american women writers this book offers fresh perspectives on art and beauty truth justice community and the making of a good and happy life the essays draw on interdisciplinary feminist and comparative methods in the works of writers such as toni morrison leslie silko alice walker linda hogan paula gunn allen luci tapahonso phillis wheatley and sherley anne williams making them more accessible for critical consideration in the fields of aesthetics philosophy and critical theory the contributors formulate unique frameworks for interpreting the multiple levels of complex cultural play between native american and african american women writers in america and pave the way for innovative hermeneutic possibilities for reassessing writers of both traditions

this volume addresses three fundamental questions about the interplay between the ethics of globality and spirituality what are the practical implications of spirituality for the condition of life in a turbulent era of violent religious non religious extremism in what way can spirituality the view of love compassion tolerance and mutual recognition encounter mistrust enmity separateness and violence how and in what way can spirituality contribute to the newly emerging global ethics religious scholars distinguish between the esoteric and exoteric sides of belief systems esotericism centres on the inner awareness and conceals a certain spirituality that is only transmittable to those who could successfully pass through a process of initiatic preparation and transpersonal practices to understand the mystical dimensions of existence in contrast exotericism takes the outer dimension of every day consciousness into account and favours the possibility of the popular understanding of the essence of existence in this perspective truth could be grasped by the public without the need of any transpersonal initiative and transformation of consciousness esotericism extends beyond religion and has become the spiritual philosophy of life without the need of being essentially religious it has become common notably in the west to identify oneself as spiritualist without having religious affiliations the condition of globality has provided an unprecedented opportunity for spiritual perspectives to grow ideas perspectives beliefs and philosophies of life are growing outside local national containers to express themselves in different global settings while the forces of globalisation are influencing local identities and cultures while evolving global transformations strengthen people s capability to leave institutionally ordered belief systems it simultaneously enables them to rearrange themselves around alternative perspectives these fundamental transformations cultivate a fabulous landscape for the growth of spirituality

this book explores how mystical traditions of either abrahamic or non abrahamic religions hold the potential to challenge the discourse of political islam and its terrorist intentions it discusses the urgent need to reconsider mystical messages of love and recognition of difference against the poisonous evil of terrorism issuing from religious contexts throughout the publication the editors draw together the main ideas and perspectives surrounding mystical islam in real life and the practice of mystics alongside illustrating common beliefs and practices of islamic mysticism this book analyses the message and impacts of mysticism on the battle against the evil of religious terrorism whilst examining successful stories and cases against violence and religious terrorism fifteen years after the tragic events of 9 11 bombs are still exploding and innocent people are being killed by terrorist groups in both western and islamic societies most of these sinisterly threatening events are motivated by religious claims or are taking place in religiously affected places is religion the main cause of terrorism or does terrorism still arise because of leaders who brainwash and coach future terrorists so that they kill under the banner of religion the religious imagination seems to hold here an influential power in the creation of delusion to orient the bigot believers toward fulfilling their religious duty against those who are religious in a different way or are not religious at all religion in this sense is tightly allied with political aspirations in spite of the religious justification of the act of killing enlightened religious leaders and religious minded people believe and argue that religion is a source of love and affection therefore the sacred texts of religious tradition must be read from a humanist perspective because the ultimate message of religion is about the appreciation of the principle of humanity this is a growing attitude among many religious people today who believe that god is merciful and compassionate and never orders resentment violence and killing of innocent people in addition no true religious tradition appreciates self serving interpretations promoting violence against others if religion disregards love affection and compassion as its essence it drops into the dire vortex of ideological dogma as it is in the case for the taliban isis boko haram and al shabab therefore any interpretation that admits violence and killing would be a mere provincial reading of the religious texts agitated by purposeful intentions aimed at political goals this book investigates and addresses the root causes of terrorism from a religious studies perspective the themes analysed and discussed here mainly include a range of religious and philosophical issues such as religious violence in scriptural monotheism radical interpretations of religious texts militancy and sacrifice apocalypticism and terrorism and religious terrorism today the book brings together new approaches adopted by the authors to not only trace the causes of terrorism in various religious interpretations and realms but also reach a common definition of the main religious causes beyond diverse perspectives and advance solutions against religious inspired terrorism first published in 1991 the first wave of north american critical theory was at once both academic and political interest in the works of the early frankfurt school may have belonged to a more general renaissance of academic social theory that occurred in north america during the late 1960s and early 1970s there is a new voice that comes through the historic political struggles of a student movement of feminism and of anti racist and ecological social movements it is a voice also schooled in a sensitivity to the theories of social disintegration or an implosion that characterizes the post modernist moment the authors represented in this reader are neither scholastic nor dogmatic they do not eschew postmodernism for hackneyed slogans nor do they embrace theory as an aesthetic substitute for theory as a socially transformative practice they are committed both to social theory and social practice and it is this which unifies the papers which follow the authors are a new generation of north american critical theorists who do not retreat to european humanism in the face of social cultural and self transformation
